The Gas War: Consumers benefit as gas prices fall at pumps in Haliburton village

by Martin Blefer
Echo editor

Motorists in the Haliburton area were living in a dream world this weekend as the price of a litre of regular gas in the village plunged to just 25.6 cents.

The bid drop occurred Thursday afternoon when Stan's Texaco dropped their regular price to 25.6 cents a litre from 39.7 cents a litre. By Monday prices remained low.

It's the larger gas companies that set the prices -- the local distributors get the same payment for selling the gas that they would at the higher price.

Minden didn't enter the gas war. Bob Parker of Stan's said the price went down "because gas was cheaper everywhere but in Haliburton" and stations here "had to keep pace." Gas sales were "fairly steady" over the weekend, but were largely made to local people. "The summer people won't be here until the weekend," he said.

He said sales were "steady" and added he looked forward to a busy weekend ahead. However, he could not predict what the price of gas would be by then.

Merv Elstone of Elstone Motor Sales agreed that it was mostly local people who had benefitted from the sales...especially on Thursday. He stressed that dealers weren't suffering.

"If someone goes up or down we're guaranteed a certain rate," he said. Right now, he added, "we're just keeping track of prices." Gas costs "could go back up tomorrow."

Don Popple of Curry Motors said sales were up "substantially" during the period the "war" was on. "Local dealers are still getting the same commission...it's a crystal ball deal, but I'd be surprised if it lasts very much longer."

The busiest day was Thursday, and "mostly local people" have been benefitting, said Popple. If the "war" continues into the holiday weekend, more out-of-town business may take place, he added.

"The big companies lose here. The consumer wins, and the dealers win since they sell a larger volume of gas," said Popple.

Gary McKnight of Haliburton Marine said he "sold a pile" of gas when the price went down, and sales were at a level "probably a little more" than usual by Monday. Anyone travelling south filled up their tanks, he said.

Prices are still low at Cobocok and Kinmount, however. "That's the big reason the prices went down," said McKnight. "For the past year and a half Kinmount has had the cheapest gas prices. When our price was 39.7 cents a litre, theirs was about 34 cents."

As all the other dealers point out, McKnight says price setting is up to the large distribution companies. The reason for the lower prices is probably due to local "squawking" about high prices in the village, he added.

Dealers will be getting the same consignment rate -- so they won't be suffering.

"I considered going down to Kinmount with a tanker and filling up," he laughed.

Gord Bennett said sales were up considerably.

"We have no way of knowing" when prices will go back up, he said. "They phone you, and tell you."

Sales have gone up, he said, so dealers are making "a little more money" than they would have normally.

Eric Edwards was more philosophical. On Thursday, Friday and Saturday people were in "a big rush" to buy gasoline. Mostly local people took advantage of the deals, although out-of-town motorists filled up Friday.

"It will certainly be good for the tourist businesses if the prices stay until after next weekend...but I'll bet the prices will change in the next two or three days," he said.

What's more, prices may skyrocket to a level higher than when they dropped...Edwards predicts they might be in the 46.2 cents a litre range.

"Those prices are set by the big companies," he added, "and that's where they figure the price should be."

However, he added, "you can't predict these things."

People have tended to buy more gas than they would -- filling their tanks and gas cans -- but they don't have anywhere to put the excess.

"People are buying what they need...but they've nowhere to store any extra gas. Neither do the big companies. That's what starts these price battles in the first place," he said.

Youngsters killed on highway

Two Scarborough youngsters died Sunday after a collision between their all-terrain cycle and a 1980 AMC car on Highway 35 north of Minden.

Dead are Gregory Fallahay, 11, and Howard Jamieson, 10. They were killed after the ATC they were riding "apparently crossed the highway into the path...of a car driven by Debbie Cox, 27, of Anson Township" according to an OPP report.

Both vehicles slid to the east side of Highway 35, knocking down several guide posts. The boys were thrown down an embankment and into a ditch, dying at the scene of multiple injuries.

Cox was treated for minor injuries at Minden hospital, caused when her head went through the windshield. Police reports show she was travelling at about 80 km per hour (50 mph) when the tragedy occurred.

Dr. A.D. Holliday-Rhodes is the coroner, and PC David Rodgers the investigating officer.

Young Jamieson was apparently staying the weekend at the Fallahay's Mountain Lake cottage.

Under cloudy skies Sunday several passing motorists pulled over at the scene of the tragedy. The ATC, flipped on its side, lay at the side of the road while the crumpled beige AMC, pointing over the bank, was located about forty feet away.

Water receding slowly, Minden still bailing out

Although high water levels in local water systems have dropped over the past week, Trent Severn Waterway officials say that Minden and the Shadow Lake area (near Norland) are still experiencing water problems.

In Minden, high water in the Gull River caused flooding at the Beaverbrook Golf Club, and submerged a section of North Water Street. Flooding was also reported at the Mountain Lake Cottage Resort, north of the village.

Deputy-reeve Ed Pergolas of Anson, Hindon and Minden says he feels the Gull River has probably gone down a couple of inches over the weekend -- since the water has receded on his driveway. The deputy-reeve has been parking his car at a neighbor's because his lawn and driveway are underwater.

"It appears things have improved," he said Monday.

According to water control engineer Bruce Kitchen of the Trent Severn Waterway, the Burnt River system is "going down" and the main trouble areas are at Gull Lake, Moore's Lake and Shadow Lake (near Norland).

"Kashagawigamog Lake is down to 'full' level," he said Monday.

"Maple Lake and Kennis Lake are also receding...in fact, the top part of the entire water system is receding."

However, he added, "Gull Lake is still high...and things are not over" for the Minden area. Damage reports so far have involved such reports as washed-away docks and water "threatening cottages," he explained.

"I expect one or two floors have got wet," he added. More should be learned when cottagers arrive for the holiday weekend, added Kitchen.

Herb Ireland, Trent Severn's local official, said attempts are being made to get as much water out as possible without causing further flooding at Minden.

Rain over the weekend didn't affect local lakes, although some of the lakes in Victoria County reported higher levels, he said. About one-third of an inch of rain fell this weekend.

Water levels should continue to decline "as long as it doesn't rain again," he observed.

Highest ever?

Art Wall of Eagle Lake took a tour of the lakes in his area last Wednesday night, and reported that he "had never seen the lakes so high" in the years he's been living in this area. He's been here since 1953.

At Wilberforce, Reg Schofield reported some unusual water conditions.

"Before the big rain (and we always get heavy rains in the spring) the dam at Wilberforce was holding water back to capacity," he told the Echo.

He said two and a half stop-logs (equal to 30 inches) were pulled from the dam. "Drawing 30 inches of water from miles and miles of lakes causes serious trouble," he said, adding that "you can't expect someone not living in this area to look after these dams."

"This year we had no snow -- which meant no runoff -- and yet we had the worst flooding in 60 years."

Another problem is the piling up of driftwood about 1/4 mile below the dam, a problem "that has been going on for years. This holds six feet of water in the river at all times, which adds to the flooding."

Had Schofield's bridge not been chained, it would have been washed away. Neighbor Allan Scott lost his cut firewood and seasoned cedar posts.

Unseasonable rain

Trent Severn officials report 75 mls (three inches) of rain fell in the Kawarthas from April 29 to May 8 -- the bulk of it falling the weekend before last. A total of about 125 mls (five inches) fell in the Haliburton reservoir areas, causing the storage condition "to increase from about

Booth gets OK of committee

The committee planning the construction of a joint Lutterworth/ Anson, Hindon and Minden tourist information booth is recommending a July 1 opening -- despite the fact that the federal government will not be providing a grant to help pay for the booth's staff.

The committee members -- AHM Deputy-reeve Ed Pergolas and Coun. Gary Kenney and Lutterworth Reeve Ron Gambell and Coun. Bill Prentice -- met Monday night, and will recommend to their respective councils that the cost of staffing the booth be split by the two municipalities.

Lutterworth council meets this week, while AHM meets later this month.

AHM Reeve Lyle McKnight told the Echo the committee is recommending "splitting everything down the middle."

OPP report

During the period between May 9 and 15 personnel at Minden detachment investigated seven motor vehicle accidents and 62 general occurrences including seven Break and entries, seven liquor offences and three damage complaints.

Barn collapse

On Friday, May 13, Wesley Crawford, age 61, lot 8, concession 4, Stanhope Township, was dismantling a barn on Green Lake Road in Guilford Township when it apparently collapsed on him, crushing his chest. It is not known exactly when the accident occurred but he was found dead at approximately 3:30 p.m. by two nearby residents. The barn had been damaged during the high winds of May 8.

A post mortem examination conducted at Peterborough Civic Hospital confirmed that he had died as a result of being crushed by a heavy object. He was buried Monday at St. Stephens Cemetery, Boshkung Lake. Investigating officer was P.C. Glen Irvin. Coroner was Dr. Blair Pierce.

High water complaints

Our detachment has not become too involved in the recent high water situation but over the weekend several complaints were received concerning boaters whose waves were causing damage to piers and retaining walls not normally susceptible to water problems. The boaters may not have been aware of the problems they were causing as they motored around the lakes and an appeal was made at our request over radio stations in Barrie, Lindsay and Huntsville, urging them to travel at slow speeds.

An unusual complaint was received from a person on a Dysart Township lake who was changing her attire when she observed a man in a canoe looking in her window. The canoe was being paddled over what normally was her front lawn.

Accidents

On Friday, May 13 at 8:35 p.m. on North Kennis Lake Drive in Havelock Township, two cars met on the crest of a hill. Douglas Woods, 23, of Lindsay, had his '81 Chev damaged to the tune of $3,000. Hans Bernhardt, 59, of Toronto, sustained $3,000 damage to his 1974 AMC. Both drivers received minor injuries as did two passengers in the Woods vehicle, Brian Joss, 23, of Scarborough and Tom Wood, 20, of Lindsay. PC Al Bibby investigated.

On Saturday, May 14, at 11:00 p.m. Dale Ripley, 14, of the Minden area lost control of his 10-speed bicycle on South Lake Road east of Highway 35. He was found unconscious at the road edge and taken to Minden hospital. He was kept overnight for observation. PC Dennis Potter investigated.

On Saturday, May 14, at 11:50 p.m., Margot Taylor, 21, of Willowdale, travelling on South Water Street in Minden, lost control of her '80 Pontiac. The vehicle travelled across the shoulder and snapped off a hydro pole. She was charged with impaired driving. The accident was investigated by PC Al Bibby.

Correction

Contrary to what was announced in last week's Echo county trade dollars won't be given out to every participant in kids Spring Fling events.

Organizers from the municipal recreation committee are still working out the details, and according to Coun. Dorothy Baker those details will be announced to competitors at the park events this Sunday.

The Echo apologizes for the confusion.

Bell will spend over $230,000 in Dysart

Bell Canada will spend a whopping $232,000 this year to maintain and upgrade telephone services in the Haliburton exchange.

A Bell Canada press release, issued last week, indicates that $30,000 was spent on area services last year. Manager Ann Jenkins is quoted as saying that some of the projects this year will include "expanded facilities to meet existing and expected increases in demand for telephone service" and "the replacement of trunk cables."

"Bell employs 14 people in the Haliburton area, with an annual payroll exceeding $410,000," states Jenkins. At the end of last year there were 1,550 customers on the Haliburton exchange.

In 1982 Bell paid $65,115.40 in taxes to Dysart et al. This year Bell's "gross receipts tax to be paid to the township will amount to $74,014.25."

Ida Maude Noice of Minden dies

Ida Maude Noice, one of the first settlers of Minden, died Saturday in Toronto's Sunnybrook Medical Centre. She was 100.

Noice's family settled in the tiny cottage community in Haliburton County when there was little more than trees and pioneers. The family ran the general store, selling goods to farmers and lumbermen and eventually establishing a thriving business.

Noice was one of seven children. She went to grade school in Minden, then went to high school at Whitby Ladies College, now Trafalgar Castle School. After graduating in 1898 she studied at Ottawa General Hospital's nursing school.

The Noice family sold their store and moved to Toronto in 1915. Ida and three brothers volunteered

Council investigates dam danger

When the rains poured down two weekends ago, many feared more flooding problems from the beaver dams just outside of Haliburton village.

At the last meeting of Dysart council two weeks ago lawyer Dave Bishop advised the township to find out exactly who owns the ponds in question. Last month -- for the second time in as many years -- Kennedy Surplus was flooded when a beaver dam gave out.

Bishop advised the township to check to see whether or not the owners of the dammed ponds had been notified of the potential hazard last year. If they were, he said, "there is a possibility of strong liability."

A series of ponds

The problem is, noted Reeve Murray Fearrey, that there is not just one, but a series of the ponds. One of the largest has about 40 acres of water in it, council was told.

Bishop said that if one or more of the dams gave out, children at the Victoria Street School playground would be right in the path of floodwaters.

With the rain of two weekends ago, many crossed their fingers -- hoping the dams would hold out. They did.

Reeve Fearrey told the Echo that there would be two options for the pond owners to consider. One would be having the dams taken down, and the water slowly removed. Another would be the building of artificial control dams.

One of the ponds is ringed by homes, and the pond there is considered an aesthetic feature.

TVO transmitter will start up in the spring

A new transmitter may improve TVOntario's image here in Haliburton County by next spring.

The provincially-funded education network announced this week that it had received CRTC approval May 2 to operate new re-broadcast transmitters in Huntsville and Penetanguishene in the spring of 1984.

According to maps provided by TVO, a "grade A" signal will be received by viewers in the Dorset area. Viewers in Carnarvon, Halls Lake and Blairhampton will fall in the "grade B" signal area. The village of Minden is right on the extreme limit of the TV signal, while Haliburton village is out of range.

Bob Bishop of CATV said that if the new signal (on channel 13) is better than the TVO signal currently used on cablevision (channel 19) a change will be made.

Wide variety of business handled at Dysart

A regular meeting of the Dysart Municipal Council, was held in the council chambers on Monday, May 9, 1983, commencing at 10:10 a.m.

Members present included Murray G. Fearrey, Gary McKnight, Sidney Cooper, Dorothy Baker, John Parish, Lloyd Leadbeater, R. Glen Hodgson, Howard M. Roberts and Wayne B. Wood, clerk.

RESOLUTIONS

• Moved by Lloyd Leadbeater, seconded by R. Glen Hodgson that the minutes of the meeting of April 11, 1983, be adopted as per circulation. Carried.

• Moved by Sidney Cooper, seconded by John Parish that Mr. Kelly of lot 42, plan 458, be advised that the road superintendent advises that to ditch to Kelly Creek would require blasting and rock removal, further that the culvert is in a natural water course, therefore, the water will have to be diverted within lot 42 by the owner. Carried.

• Moved by Sidney Cooper, seconded by Dorothy I. Baker that general accounts 5822 to 5958 (totalling $43,966.48), road accounts 4575 to 4642 (totalling $44,484.47, and social services 3775 to 3839 and 3855 to 3861 (totalling $10,603.58) be approved for payment.

Voucher no. 4637 - Murray Fearrey declared an interest, refrained from voting and discussion. Carried.

• Moved by Dorothy I. Baker, seconded by Lloyd Leadbeater that the roads department purchase two Polaroid Cameras in order that ditching, wash outs, and so on could be documented. Carried.

• Moved by Gary McKnight, seconded by Sidney Cooper that the lawn enforcement officer be authorized to sign the applications to purchase class 7:2:2 High Hazard Fireworks for Dysart et al -- tendent arrange to order gabion baskets for Lake Street and Riverfront stabilization during the summer of 1983. Carried.

• Moved by Gary McKnight, seconded by John Parish that the chief building official be authorized to issue building permits to "ONE 2 ONE" Corporation for the construction of three rental chalets and an addition to the existing Pro Shop at an estimated cost of $134,000.00. Carried.

• Moved by Gary McKnight,

• Moved by Gary McKnight seconded by John Parish that the road superintendent be requested to purchase and install "Slow, Watch for Children" signs in various locations as requested by the roads committee. Carried.

• Moved by R. Glen Hodgson seconded by Gary McKnight that the Government of Canada, Fisheries and Oceans Branch, be advised that the municipality is not interested in assuming control and maintenance of the Redstone Lake Launching Ramp by lease at this time. Carried.

Moved by Dorothy I. Baker, seconded by Lloyd Leadbeater that the road superin-

seconded by Sidney Cooper, that the chief building official be authorized to issue a building permit to Norma Parish for the construction of a three-foot canopy on the front and side of the existing service station at an estimated cost of $900.

John Parish declared interest. Carried.

• Moved by Dorothy I. Baker, seconded by Lloyd Leadbeater that the chief building official be authorized to issue a building permit to Uta Carl (The Old Country House Restaurant) for the construction of an open patio and enclosed storage building on her property at part lot 8, block "G", plan 1, Dysart Township. Carried.

• Moved by John Parish, seconded by Gary McKnight that the application for Certificate of Occupancy by Georgina Sasvari be refused, as the dwelling does not meet municipal requirements for year-round residential occupancy. The applicant is to be advised that the municipality will allow sufficient time to bring the property to the required standard being August 15, 1983. If the property is not to standard by that date, and a certificate of occupancy not available, the municipality will proceed with the appropriate charges under the zoning by-law, the charges to be laid for each and every subsequent day that the violation occurs. Carried.

• Moved by Lloyd Leadbeater, seconded by R. Glen Hodgson that the road superintendent arrange to purchase RS-1 patching emulsion as required through the County of Haliburton Roads Department for the 1983 season. Carried.

• Moved by R. Glen Hodgson seconded by Sidney Cooper that the road superintendent be authorized to stone chip the existing prime surface on East Kennis Drive, said work to be carried out by the contractors doing similar work for the County of Haliburton Roads Department. Carried.

• Moved by John Parish, seconded by Sidney Cooper

Every once in a while, consumers get a break. Take, for example, the "gas war" last week in Haliburton village. In a time of high interest rates and soaring costs generally, consumers were treated to gas prices that recalled the mid-seventies.

Regular gas was going for just 25.6 cents a litre, or about $1.15 a gallon.

The sudden drop is due to the odd "glut" of oil faced by the large distribution companies. Because of over-production and the drive to save fuel, there simply is too much refined petroleum available. What better way to kill off a surplus than to hold a sale?

Consumers are happy, dealers are happy (they sell more gas and get the same "cut") and the distributors rid themselves of their surplus stock. However, what goes down must come up.

By the time this statement hits the newspaper, prices may nearly double. We may see gas in the 45 to 47 cents a litre bracket. Our ray of hope may turn sour.

We can't get mad at our local dealers who are after all just following orders from on high.

What's frustrating is that this instability is caused in part by our own consumerism. We have done what we were told -- buying smaller cars, driving more slowly, and so on. Our conservation, instead of giving us a flat price drop in these days of surplus, has simply made prices more volatile.

The gas surplus has all but stopped the search for new sources of petroleum. Tar sands development has ceased. The Liberal National Energy Program proved obsolete as it was introduced. Energy is a problem that has, for now, been shifted to the back burner.

It's a scary thought. Let's not forget that our energy supply is finite. Even if there's a glut now, the Arab oil-producers are still taking oil out of the ground -- and there is only so much to take.

If we stop the search for new energy sources, new fuels and so on because of the lower prices we're cutting our own throats later on down the line. The big push for alternate fuels was big news in 1980 and 1981, but is unheard of now.

The Tory government of Ontario and the federal Liberals both embarked on major "alternate fuel" programs in that era. The issue has become a cold potato.

Let's not get lulled into security with cheap gas prices. The voices that cried wolf in 1973 -- and heralded in an era of small cars, electronic furnaces and insulation schemes by the score -- may have been a tad premature, but they were correct.

The federal and provincial governments have put energy savings and replacement on the back burner -- but that burner will be a chilly spot when the winter of 84 rolls around, and gas is 70 cents a litre.

Laws should change

The tragedy on the highway Sunday -- the two small boys killed while playing on an ATC -- draws attention to the responsibility of adults for their recreational vehicles.

We don't know the details of this latest case yet, and can only sympathize with the grieving parents of both children.

Children who are under age should not be riding ATCs or snowmobiles anywhere without adult supervision.

They shouldn't, in fact, be driving them at all until they are old enough to obtain a licence.

Parents everywhere must realize the responsibility they have to protect their children from the machines that can and have proved deadly.

Midland Regiment

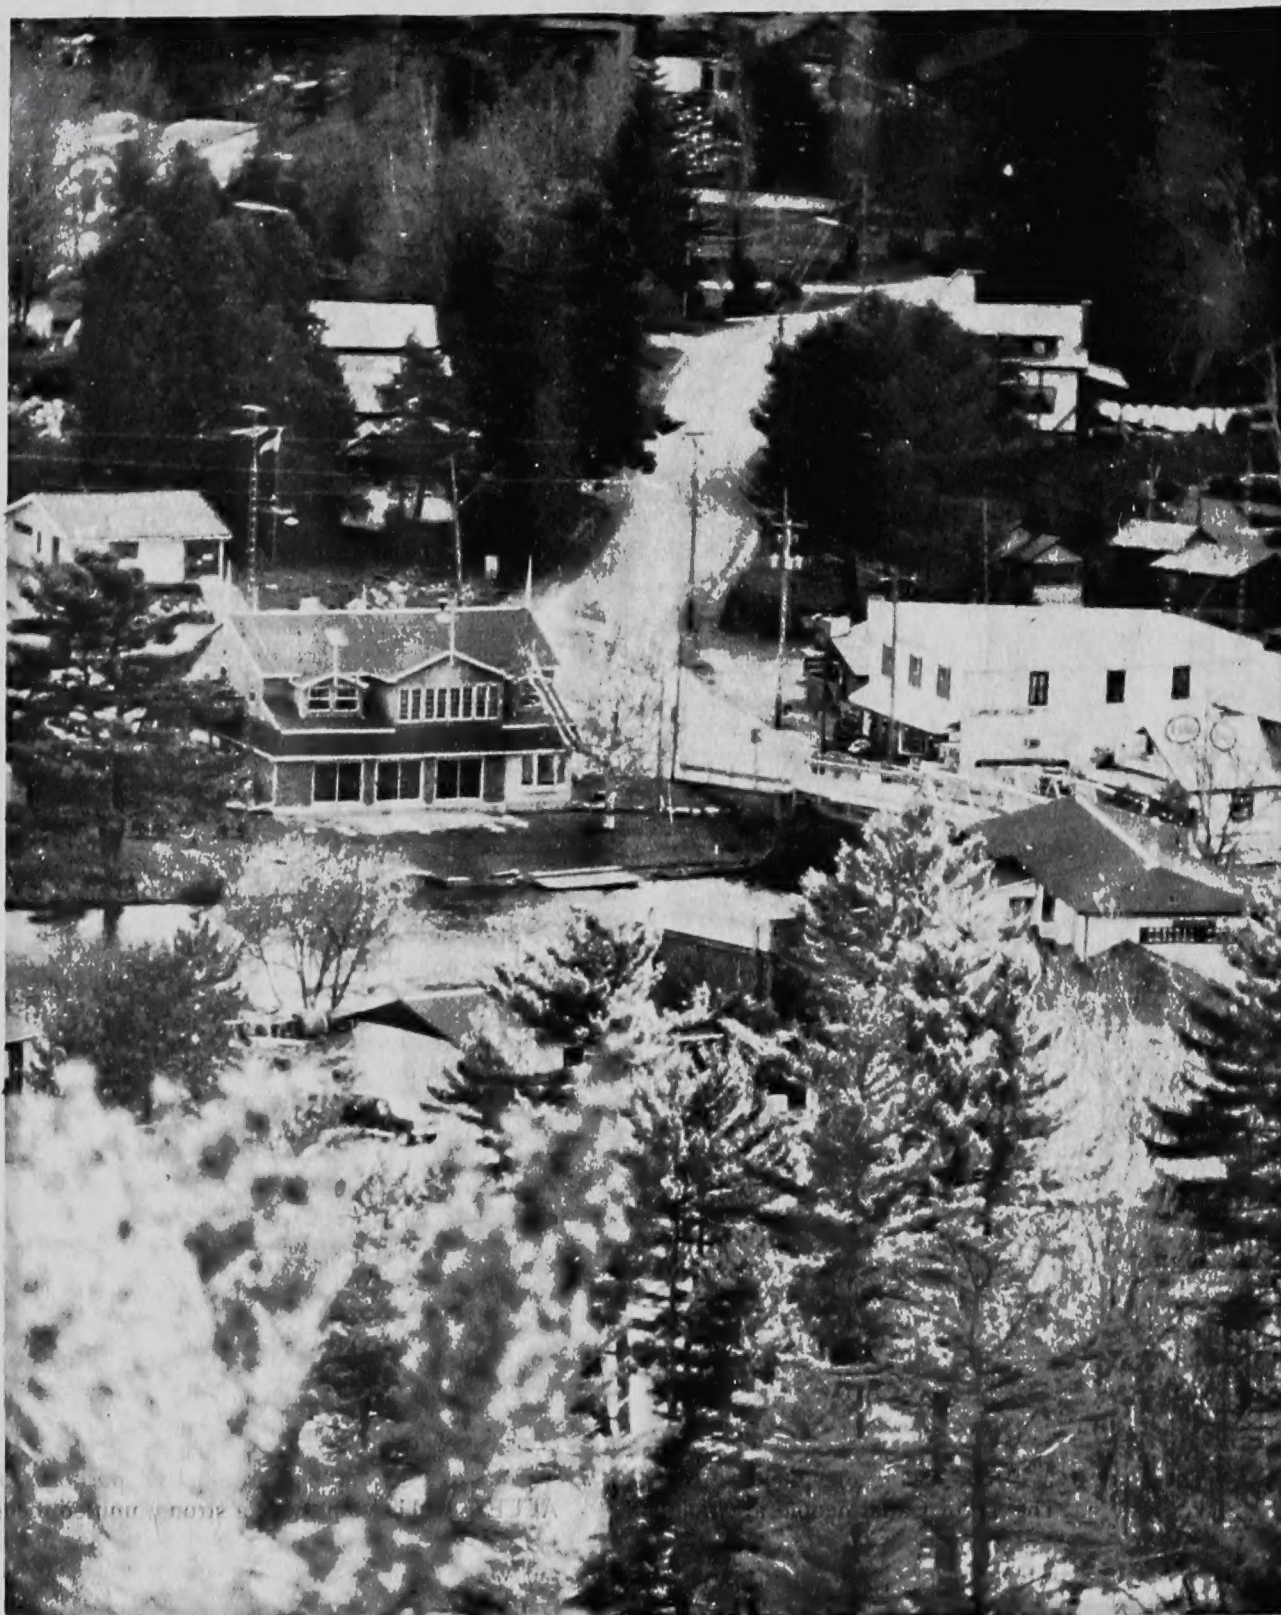

The Royal Canadian Legion paid tribute to the veterans of the Midland Regiment this weekend.

That Regiment, which included our own Reg Schofield of Wilberforce, was the one that saw action in Hong Kong. Six Hong Kong veterans were in the audience Saturday night. Like Schofield, they remembered the horror of that war -- and no doubt felt the same euphoria at coming home.

For veterans like Schofield -- imprisoned -- the war seemed one that might only end one way.

When it came time to toast the Queen, to sing the national anthem and to sing "God Save the Queen" there was, in the air, a sense of pride and of nationalism.

The men of the Midland Regiment came together from all over the country, and fought some bloody battles for their country. They were there to remember those who didn't come back -- and to assure, by their presence, that they are not forgotten.

Guild needs funding input

To the Editor:

Several years ago it was determined that Haliburton County was lacking an arts environment. A small, dedicated, group of people accepted the challenge of rectifying that situation. Today those efforts represent a major attraction to our community and to an economic stability.

Like all successful ventures an organization cannot rest on its laurels but must proceed to bigger and better accomplishments. To this end we are pleased to announce that the Canadian Crafts Council will hold its 1984 conference here in the Highlands. No doubt the reputation and available facilities of the Haliburton School of Fine Arts, Rails' End Gallery and the efforts of Guild members has made this possible.

From modest beginnings seventeen years ago, the Haliburton School of Fine Arts was created. This was eventually absorbed by Sir Sandford Fleming College and was a major factor in their decision to establish a campus in Haliburton Village. Students from many countries and backgrounds now attend classes in the beautiful surroundings.

Several "arts" groups have been established and are successfully operating -- potters, quilters, concerts and theatre, weavers, etc. As a natural progression suitable facilities and guidance have been provided for exhibition of their efforts. One of our most ambitious programs to date has been the renovation and restoration of the former CNR station in Haliburton village.

The economic benefits to the whole county, cannot be given a dollar figure. Many spin-offs result from our efforts to attract top-notch artists to exhibit in our gallery. Most visitors require automotive necessities, lodging, meals, shopping, recreation, etc.

If we are to expand our horizons and properly promote what we have already accomplished we require additional funding. Tourism is our greatest asset in this region and to reap the full benefit of this asset we must exploit it to the fullest.

Maintaining the financial ability of the gallery is the responsibility of the directors of the Haliburton Highlands Guild of Fine Arts. In the past private donations, from a few bequests, memberships and various fund-raising activities have sufficed to meet our money requirements. This is our first public campaign for funds. You can call it a gas war, a lowering of gas prices or whatever you want to call it but the lowering of the price of gasoline in Haliburton and in some other parts of the county last Thursday to 25 cents a litre put a lot of smile on the faces of a great many motorists. The gasoline prices came down in Haliburton on Thursday afternoon just like a bolt out of the blue. When the word got around -- and it didn't take long -- cars, trucks and everything that moved on wheels headed for the local service stations to take advantage of the big discounts. Some motorists had to wait as long line-ups to the pumps were a common occurrence. I understand that gas prices in Wilberforce and Harcourt were even lower than the 25 cents. This might seem like a dream but if gasoline prices were to stay around this figure for another year (which they won't) one would see more traffic on the highways, more larger cars in use than smaller ones and a big boost in the economy in general.

"Nurse Jane Goes to Hawaii", a hilarious comedy by Allan Stratton which was presented by Highlands Little Theatre on Friday and Saturday nights last was a big hit and the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School Auditorium at Haliburton was nearly filled to capacity for the two performances. We understand that more people attended these two performances than came out for a three-night performance of a play last winter.

The business community of Haliburton is seeing a few changes being made before the holiday weekend. Halco Audio Video (Radio Shack) has moved from its old location at the back of the Red and White building into the former Bank of Montreal building next to Stedmans Toyland Store. The Kennedy Surplus and Exchange building across from Emmerson Lumber Limited is sporting a brand new front. Haliburton Marine have just completed renovating part of their large showroom to make room for their new Yamaha franchise dealership. Considerable changes have also been made to the interiors of both the Kozy Korner Restaurant and Black's Home Hardware. The Haliburton Red and White, who are always looking for more room, have enlarged their store with plenty of changes being made to the interior. Something new this summer at the Country House Restaurant on Highland Street will be an outside cafe in connection with their present restaurant. In the near future Brohm's Variety will have a modern new front.

The Victoria Day holiday weekend is coming up and this will be the first time that many of our visitors and cottage owners have had the opportunity of coming back since last summer. We like to think that this is the beginning of the summer season, when everyone seems to be getting prepared for the busy time that lies ahead. It is also gratifying for all of us to know that more and more people will be employed here if only for a few months. We certainly look forward to seeing many of our old friends on this particular weekend and let's hope that the weather will be warm and sunny so that the visitors will enjoy the weekend to the fullest. Nice warm weather enables the cottager to get outside and do that work around the cottage that they have been waiting impatiently to get all during those long, cold winter months. Many of you who have not been back for a year or so will notice many changes in the various communities and many new businesses have been opened while others have changed hands. Many people I am sure, like business people and employees have been giving a great deal of thought as to just what will lie ahead for them this coming summer. They are wondering if they can look forward to a busy season or will it be a poor summer as far as business is concerned. A great deal will depend on just what the weatherman has in store for us as this always seems to have a bearing on just how many of the travelling public will hit the road. With the economy on the upswing we should be in for a dandy summer as we expect money to be floating around in greater quantities than usual. So why not make plans now to come up this weekend and bring the entire family for three or four days of good old-fashioned fun and entertainment.

Get ready this weekend for the Haliburton Spring Fling to be held in the village of Haliburton this Saturday and Sunday, May 21 and 22. This event which was organized by the Haliburton Recreation Committee and jointly sponsored by the Rotary Club of Haliburton, Kinsmen Club of Haliburton, Royal Canadian Legion Branch 129, Haliburton and District Lions Club, Boy Scouts and Girl Guides and the Municipality of Dysart et al promises to have something for everyone.

The management of Haliburton's spectacular Slide Ride is offering SkySliders sensational pre-season special. And what a great offer it is. For a very limited time Skyline Rides is offering a season ticket. That's right for only $24.99 you can ride the SkySlider for the whole summer (Good from May 24th weekend to Thanksgiving).

The Haliburton Horticultural Group has been formed and its planned this year to install planters on Highland Street along with flower pots. This enthusiastic group under the direction of President Brenda Petro will be seeking support for this very worthwhile project.

Chamber of Commerce

Shop and deal in the Highlands campaign gearing up

"Shop and Deal in the Highlands Campaign"
This project is scheduled for launching at the Kinsmen Home and Vacation Show being held at Haliburton arena on June 10-12. The central part of the campaign is a discount coupon book offering bonafide dollars off or free merchandise or service when an additional purchase is made. Two thousand coupon books are being printed and sold and any income derived from the sale of the books is being used towards promotional activities for the program.

Posters identifying participating members will be supplied, special buttons will identify staff of the participants, and souvenir book matches and buttons are also being prepared. The campaign is designed to bring people into our local businesses and make them more aware of the products and facilities they have to offer.

In order to meet deadlines we must have commitments from all participating members by this weekend so please call the Chamber office -- 286-1760 -- if you are interested in this and we have not yet contacted you. Do it today!

Directories in the Mail
Mailing out 15,000 Haliburton Highlands Directories to property owners may not sound like a huge job -- when you say it fast -- but it certainly is. The biggest job has been compiling the mailing list from the voters lists, sorting them into postal codes and getting them onto labels. This was done with the assistance of Charlie and Reg Tyler and their Commodore computers. Next was putting the directories along with brochures of participating members into the specially printed envelopes. This was done with the assistance of the Arc Industries Workshop in Haliburton who are most anxious to do these kinds of jobs for any business in the area.

Back at our office everyone is pitching in to get the labels on the envelopes and get them to the post office.

Coin Program Underway
Ten thousand Commemorative Coins arrived at the county office this week and are being declared legal tender for the balance of the year by special resolution at county council. The first silver will be presented to the Honourable Claude Bennett, Minister of Housing who will be in attendance to unveil a plaque which officially designates our full county status.

The first distribution of the coins will begin at that time at a table in front of the Registry office, and as soon as possible thereafter we will be making them available at outlets throughout the county.

Please remember that there are 10 specially mint-marked coins distributed throughout the full order. A sample of the mint mark is displayed at the Chamber office and anyone finding one may redeem it for $25.00. Frankly they are worth more than that to collectors so we don't expect to see many turned in to us.

Be sure to get your coins before they run out. Ten thousand may sound like a lot, but when you consider our county hosts over 100,000 visitors at a time in July and August they certainly will run out before the summer is over.

High Water Problems
Flooding is a very real concern in many parts of our county at the moment and even more so downstream where we are presently dumping all of this excess water. It tends to certainly show up some of the dangerous inadequacies in the reservoir system for the Trent which makes up our lake system. The Trent Canal people are doing the best they can with a system that was not designed to cope with the demands we are all placing on it. Unfortunately for many that is just not good enough.

When the water levels committee first met with the Trent Authority to address the problem of low water levels in late summer they found that the lakes were only being filled to 85 per cent of capacity in the spring with the other 15 per cent being allowed for flood control. The committee insisted that if it's a reservoir system then it must be filled when the water is available, and flood control must be handled in another way. To date the government has not looked at alternate methods of addressing flood controls and we are in a dangerous position at the moment as a result.

If you are upset about water levels now it will do little good to complain to the Trent Canal employees. As we said they are doing everything they can with what they have to work with. As individuals you also have limited impact. Each lake or river system should organize an association to speak on their behalf. Through the Water Levels Committee these groups may be able to create the pressure to go after some solutions to this annual problem of either too much or not enough water.

Hart Lodge Changes Hands
Another era in the history of Haliburton County's resort industry ended this weekend when Hart Lodge came under new ownership. Hart Lodge was named after the family of the same name and Eileen Crawford (nee Hart) had carried on the hospitality tradition established by her parents. Eileen's daughter Cheryl, also grew up on the property and was actively working with her mother in the resort's administration. Eileen was always very active in promoting tourism for our area. She had served on the Chamber board, The Highway 35 Association and is presently on the board of directors of Resorts Ontario.

New owners John Mateer and Robert White took possession of the facilities this past weekend and have already dropped in to the Chamber office to say hello to us. We know they will prosper on this excellent property and we hope you will join with us in welcoming them and wishing them well. We will miss the Crawfords as active members and we wish them nothing but the best in their future as well.

Budget was "safe but boring," not enough action

The provincial budget was presented to the legislature last week and Claire Hoy of the Toronto Sun summed it up by calling it "safe but boring". It was a budget that neither makes you dance for joy nor get mad. It gave a little and it took away a little. Some say it was like "walking on the spot."

Miller promised an accelerated youth employment program by allocating $25 million and $14 million for job retraining and skill development. This amount might sound adequate but it really is not, when one considers the number of young people who are unemployed and the graduates from our colleges and universities who have nowhere to go. Yet we are told that there will be a shortage of 45,000 skilled workers here in the next few years.

Ontario Hydro still recruits in England and only recently the Davis government went to England to hire 16 computer specialists to work for the Ministry of Revenue. What's wrong with training and using our own Canadian young people who are desperately searching for a job?

The amount of money allocated is small indeed when you consider that the interest alone on the SUNCOR purchase in the past year was $93 million. Consider also that the government of William Davis spent $40 million advertising themselves and without blinking an eye spent $45 million on Minaki Lodge. The lodge is a subsidized playground for the more well-to-do, and you are helping to pay for it. To those people who work in the tourism and hospitality industries, there was no good news in the budget.

A few of the highlights are as follows:

- Starting July 1, a five per cent surcharge on provincial personal income tax for the rest of 1983 and all of 1984.
- Starting May 24, the retail sales tax rate on beer and liquor jumps two per cent: that works out to 15 cents more for 12 bottles of beer, 20 cents for a bottle of liquor and 10 to 15 cents for a bottle of wine.
- Effective May 11, taxes have added 15 cents to the price of a pack of 20 cigarettes.
- Starting June 1, OHIP premiums go up five per cent, raising the monthly rate for single coverage to $28.35 from the present $27. For families, the new rate will be $56.70, up from $54.
- Effective May 11, household furniture and appliances are exempt from the seven per cent provincial sales tax, until August 8.
- $242 million to create 76,000 short-term jobs this year.
- A $40 million housing program to assist renovation and construction of 5,000 rental units - representing 12,000 jobs.
- A $135 million program to help new farmers break into the business.
- Corporate income tax, except for small businesses, will rise by one per cent to 14 per cent for manufacturing, processing, mining, logging, farming and fishing -- and to 15 per cent for all other business income.
- More less carry-over provisions, allowing businesses, farmers and fishermen to carry non-capital losses back three years and forward seven years for income tax purposes.

Report from Parliament

Bill Scott, M.P.

Government should re-think its job assistance plan

On May 11, the Department of Employment and Immigration sent each member of parliament a background paper on the consolidation of the currently existing 12 job creation programs into four main streams.

This paper attempts to explain the announcement made earlier in the House by Minister Lloyd Axworthy.

The four new programs will be as follows:
The ACCESS program -- The purpose of ACCESS will be to provide a strong, unified focus to human resource development. Through wage subsidies, ACCESS will provide employment opportunities by providing internships through private sector organizations for those who are experiencing difficulties in accessing the permanent labor market. The ACCESS program will consolidate the program for the employment disadvantaged; portable wage subsidy program; the new technology employment program; Summer Canada internships for 1984; and the Canada Community Services projects program.

Job Corps Program -- The purpose of job corps will be to assist disadvantaged workers to develop the skills and work habits they need to become competitive, productive and employed members of the regular labor force. This will be achieved by funding projects that provide temporary job opportunities for participants along with appropriate assessment of personal and career needs and coordinated provision of counselling, training (through the National Training Program) and other support services. Job corps will be closely linked to the ACCESS program in its support of human resource development. Participants will be able to move from job corps projects, through ACCESS to regular labor market participation. The job corps program will incorporate part of the Local Employment Assistance Program and the Youth Job Corps component of Canada Community Development Projects.

The new NEED program -- The purpose of the new NEED program will be to create jobs in areas of high unemployment. It will also respond to emergencies such as unemployment caused by major industry shut-downs in dependent communities. Participants will include laid-off workers, U.I. exhaustees, U.I. recipients, social assistance recipients, returning students, and members of those communities and industries designated by the Industrial and Labor Adjustment Program as experiencing high levels of unemployment caused by large-scale industrial change. The new NEED program will consolidate the original NEED program, announced in October 1982; the job creation program under Section 38 of the Unemployment Insurance Act, the Community Employment Program; Summer Canada projects for 1984; and components of the Canada Development Projects Program.

The LEAD program -- LEAD will be an on-going program. Its purpose is to contribute to long-term community-based employment development in areas and regions where chronic high unemployment persists along with low economic growth. It will provide skills within the community to undertake community planning and project management. The LEAD program will provide support to LEAD corporations and LEAD projects. LEAD corporations funding will enable selected communities to establish and manage local development corporations which make investments in, and provide counselling and other advice regarding possible local business projects with a potential to create jobs. LEAD projects funding will provide support for the establishment of long or short-term community-sponsored businesses or projects which will provide or lead to on-going employment within the local community.

The Local Employment Assistance and Development Program will be made up of the following existing programs: Local Economic Development Assistance Program and components of Canada Community Development Projects and of Local Employment Assistance Program.

I think it is about time that the federal government revise its employment development strategy to bring it into line with the reality of today's job market. Whether or not this consolidation will produce more jobs and lower unemployment remains to be seen. I would hope the extension of the NEED program to laid-off workers, U.I. recipients and returning students will at least make the program more accessible.

Minister says Eakins all wrong about dioxin issue

To the Editor:

I noted with interest the column on dioxin by John Eakins, M.P.P. in your April 20 edition. Although I appreciate his concern and that of his colleague Murray Elston, M.P.P. it is clear that they have serious misconceptions about this most complex issue.

Mr. Eakins refers to the "dioxin plague". The plagues of the middle ages killed hundreds upon thousands of people. Dioxin, even by the broadest stretch of one's imagination, cannot be linked with such a term and image.

What is the human health threat of dioxin compounds in Ontario? Based on analytical results to date, dioxins have not been detected in any treated drinking water samples. This is most encouraging information and certainly does not imply a threat to health. The very toxic 2,3,7,8-TCDD congener has been confirmed in several species of fish in Lake Ontario and the Niagara River. In all cases but one, the mean concentrations of 2,3,7,8-TCDD for individual fish species at specific locations fall below the Health and Welfare Canada fish consumption guideline of 20 parts per trillion. The one situation where the 2,3,7,8-TCDD exceeds the federal guideline, thus necessitating restricted consumption advice, is in large lake trout from the Port Credit area of western Lake Ontario.

The analytical test results for dioxin in fish have been widely reported. Anglers following the fish consumption advice contained in "Guide to Eating Ontario Sport Fish" are afforded adequate health protection for dioxin as well as a variety of other substances.

To set the technical record straight, dioxins, or polychlorinated dibenzo-p-dioxins (PCDD) are a group of 75 compounds with a similar generic structure, but with wide ranging toxicities. Unfortunately, the term 'dioxin' has, to many, become synonymous with the most toxic 2,3,7,8-TCDD isomer. Each individual compound has to be evaluated separately before discussion can proceed on its environmental and public health aspects.

My ministry is concerned not only with the potential presence of dioxins in relation to

Dorset should be made more welcome in county

Dorset is an interesting hamlet that could use a little more county spirit.

On Sunday I had the pleasure of attending a reunion of Dorset pioneers at the community hall there. About 75 people took part, and many relayed to me their experiences in the area. They had watched its gradual evolution from lumber centre to tourism site -- the changes in the old hotel, the building of the new school, and the expansion at Robertson's General Store being just some of the many changes over the years.

But Dorset's independence is probably due to its peculiar geographic location. The western half of the main street is in Muskoka District -- Frank Millar Tory territory -- while the eastern half of the street is Liberal red, and in Haliburton County.

(Most people said they saw their federal and provincial representatives only at election time.)

The kids attending the Dorset school -- part of the Haliburton County Board of Education -- go to high school in Huntsville.

News coverage is patchy, at best, since Hunts-

HHSS wins Kawartha "A" title

Haliburton Highlands Secondary School continues to show its mastery in track and field action, winning its sixth straight Kawartha "A" title at a meet at Trent University this weekend.

A total of 22 competitors will advance to the COSSA finals.

Midlet boys

Alex Little won the midlet boys' 3000, was second in the 1500 and second in the 800 to advance. Trevor Powers was second in both the 100 and 400 meter hurdles.

Pete Allore was second in the discus, Paul Allore third in the pole vault, Mike Blake third in the 100 meter hurdles, Jeff Hancock third in the discus and Mike MacNaull fourth in the 400 meter run.

Junior boys

Greg Pearson was second in the 110 meter hurdles. Lyle Coghlan was second in the shot put, while Rob McLeod was third in the 110 hurdles.

Shaun Symonds was third in the 400 meter hurdles, Brad Chambers was fourth in the discus, and Drew Bishop fourth in the pole vault.

Senior boys

Steve Smith won the 110 meter hurdles, while Steve Symonds was fourth. Keith Foster was second in the shot put.

Junior girls

Marilyn Walker was second in the shot put. Lorie Valentine was fourth.

Senior girls

The big winner was Marla MacNaull, who was first in the javelin throw, second in the 400, and second in the 200. In "open" competition the 1600 meter relay team of Lisa Malott, Karen Gillespie, Rhonda Wilson and Marla MacNaull was fourth.

Candy League bowling champions

The Wednesday afternoon bowling league wound up its 1982-83 season with a lovely hot and cold buffet dinner put on by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Royal Canadian Legion, after which trophies were presented to the winners as follows:

Ladies high single flat -- 302 -- was presented to Phyllis MacDuff.

Ladies high single with handicap -- 359 -- Doris Grant.

Men's high single flat -- 298 -- Jim Grant.

Men's high single with handicap -- 299 -- Wilbert Gibbs.

Ladies high triple flat -- 797 -- Frieda Handy.

Ladies high triple with handicap -- 834 -- Darlene Fearrey.

Men's high triple flat -- 705 -- Harry Henderson.

Men's high triple with handicap -- 710 -- Harold Kirkpatrick.

Ladies high average -- 210 -- Joan MacKay.

Men's high average -- 196 -- Gord Bennett.

The league championship trophy went to the chunkies: team captain - Joan Alger, Muriel Peters, Harry Henderson, Darlene Fearrey, Wilbert Gibbs and Laura Fagan.

The play-off championship trophy also went to the Chunkies. The play-off consolation trophy went to the Gundrops: team captain, Ev Stata, Norma Parish, Phyllis MacDuff, Harold Kirkpatrick, Iris Meredith and Doris Grant.

First series winners were the Big six; second series winners were the Chunkies; and third series winners were the Turtles.

Secretary Phyllis MacDuff was presented with a merit pin from the Five Pin Bowling Association by president Mary Lou Bird.

Lead poisoning a problem for government

by Ron Reid

For centuries, man has known of the harmful effects of "lead poisoning". In recent years, however, the less dramatic effects of chronic exposure to low levels of lead are becoming better known. The evidence seems clear that even low levels of lead contamination can cause general ill health, miscarriages, and learning disabilities. The only prudent course of action would be to reduce human exposure to lead as much as possible.

Federal Environment Minister John Roberts is proposing to do just that, by limiting the amount of lead permitted in gasoline. This would not be an unprecedented step - the existing limits for leaded gasoline in the U.S. are one-third those of Canada, and some countries such as Japan have banned leaded gasoline altogether. Mr. Roberts hasn't yet said by how much he will reduce Canada's limits, but he has asked for public comments on the new guidelines.

At present, Canadian automobiles spew out 17 million pounds of lead annually accounting for 62 per cent of the lead in our environment.

European studies have shown that from 27 to 50 per cent of the lead in people's blood can be traced to automobile exhausts. Since airborne lead also contaminates food crops, the contribution of automobiles is very significant indeed.

Lead is added to gasoline to improve its octane rating so that the car engine won't "knock". There are environmentally-safe substitutes available, although there will be some costs associated with the conversion. There are also savings, since unleaded gasoline generally gives better mileage and better engine wear.

If you would like to help rid our environment of this toxic substance, you could write to John Roberts, Minister of Environment, Ottawa, K1A 0A6 to urge him to follow through with his ideas. You can also take more immediate steps. All cars can burn unleaded gasoline, which is now available at every service station. By paying a few cents more for unleaded gasoline, you are helping to protect the health of us all.

City kids will get a taste of country living

One hundred more young people from Ontario's urban centres will have a chance to experience farm life this summer.

Through the Junior Agriculturalist Program, close to 290 youths will be working on farms, distributed across the province. They will experience farmers' valuable knowledge and learn about animal husbandry, machinery handling and general farm labor.

The experience is not limited to farm skills, but includes every aspect of living with the farm family.

Because of the expansion of the program's capacity, the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food can offer more opportunities to commercial farmers. In the area of Victoria-Haliburton, Peterborough, Northumberland, Hastings, Prince Edward, Lennox-Addington and Frontenac Counties, approximately 37 students will be involved in the program.

Students will arrive for a nine-week period, beginning June 20. Funded by the Ontario Youth Secretariat and administered by the Rural Organizations and Services Branch of the Ministry, the Junior Agriculturalists receive a training allowance of $16 a day. The farmer provides one-half of the allowances, plus room and board.

If you are interested in being a host farmer, please contact your local agricultural office.

Watch for Grass Tetany
The grass tetany season is almost with us again, so it's time to start thinking about treatment and prevention. Grass tetany is caused by a shortage of magnesium in an animal's system. It occurs especially in milking animals, such as dairy and beef cows and ewes nursing lambs, when they are grazing on lush pasture. The condition is more acute when

Advice from MNR for waterfront

If you own waterfront property and are considering making alterations of any type to the shoreline, beach, or land under the water, there are some things you should know.

Any work in or near the water could cause serious adverse effects on fish and wildlife or on neighboring properties.

If you have a project in mind you must first seek approval from the Ministry of Natural Resources. This does not mean that your proposal will be blocked, but rather that we will have an opportunity to examine your project plans and assess the possible impacts. Usually a proposal can be approved in some form, with consideration being given to mitigating any detrimental effects.

The following provincial statutes aid us in doing our job in this regard.

- The Lakes and Rivers Improvement Act
- The Beach Protection Act

Act

- The Game and Fish Act
- The Public Lands Act

In addition, the following Federal statutes may also be applicable.

- The Fisheries Act
- The Navigable Water Protection Act

Failure to contact the Ministry of Natural Resources prior to undertaking work in or near the water could result in charges and/or restoration of the site.

Safeguarding our common resources is everyone's responsibility!

Lisa Williams (right, as Dorothy) and Jennifer Brydon as Toto were among the many children in the Haliburton Highlands Senior Elementary School production of "The Wizard of Oz," staged last Thursday night in the school library. The play featured students from grades three to eight, and was enjoyed by all.

Scholarships for county students

The Children's Art Show, at Rails' End Gallery throughout May, is both for and by children. The paintings, drawings and crafts of scholarship winners from Haliburton County Schools is on display. In the Waiting Room gallery children's books, hand puppets, kites and wooden toys are for sale.

Rails' End is offering special activities for children throughout May. Several students from HHSES had the opportunity to design and make their own quilt at Rails' End. The quilt, which depicts fauna and flora of the Highlands, will be presented to HHSES. On May 14 Paul Simpson, a Stouffville toy-maker, demonstrated his work. And, on May 27 "Cirque Alexander," a group which specializes in performances for children, will be in the Gallery performing "Barrel of Laughs."

Children winning scholarships will participate in one of the children's art courses being offered at The Haliburton School of Fine Arts this summer.

The following students have won scholarships at the Haliburton School of Fine Arts for this summer.

Disease can be lethal for farm animals

the pasture is well fertilized and the weather is cool and wet.

The first signs of grass tetany are irritability, muscle spasms and convulsions.

In acute cases the animal will throw her head, bellow, run in a frenzied manner, frequently fall and go into convulsions. Often in these cases the animals are not observed and are found dead.

In less severe cases the animals walk with a stiff gait, are ill-at-ease and very sensitive to noise and touch. Sometimes this condition can be confused with milk fever.

Prompt treatment including the intravenous injection of magnesium and calcium is necessary. If the affected animal has convulsions, or severe muscle spasms, sedatives should be used.

Prevention involves looking at the level of potassium and magnesium in your soils. If soils are low in magnesium or high in potassium, a magnesium deficiency can occur in plants. If there is an excess of potassium in the soil, the uptake of magnesium by plants is inhibited and plants will be deficient even when the magnesium content of the soil is adequate. In this case adding a magnesium fertilizer will have little effect. The potassium level must be lowered to increase plant magnesium.

Another method of preventing this seasonal drop in blood magnesium levels is to feed a magnesium supplement in the mineral. In addition to increasing magnesium intake, cattle on pasture should have access to hay or dry roughage.

Tetany is sometimes seen in calves and the symptoms are identical to grass tetany in cows. It can occur in young calves on milk replacer or in those with chronic scours. It is also seen in calves two to four months old that are on a milk diet.

Since the soils in Victoria and Haliburton Counties are generally low in magnesium, grass tetany is a problem all farmers should be watching for, and working to prevent.

AHM renews its insurance policy for 1983

The council of AHM met Thursday with Reeve Lyle McKnight in the chair. Present were Deputy-reeve E. Pergolas, and councillors, P. Burk, G. Kenney, and D. Stevens, MLEO R.C. Schell, and clerk-treasurer E. Burke. The Clerk-Treasurer administered the Declaration of Office and Oath of Allegiance to newly appointed Coun. Dave Stevens.

Members of Council then congratulated Dave Stevens on being appointed to office. He commented that he hoped he would be able to contribute to the municipality.

Resolutions
• Moved by G. Kenney, seconded by P. Burk that the minutes of the meetings held on April 28 and May 3, 1983 be approved as circulated. Carried.

Jack Stevenson attended Council with a request to construct an access road on the original Concession allowance.

• Moved by D. Stevens, seconded by G. Kenney that Jack Stevenson be allowed to construct an access road on the original Concession allowance on part of lot 15, lots 16 and 17 between concessions six and seven in the Township of Minden providing that it remains open to the public and the existing survey stakes not be disturbed and if said stakes are disturbed Jack Stevenson shall replace them at his expense. Carried.

Noise solution?

Chris Sinardo of OME Insurance Brokers Limited was present. He advised that the major insurance company in the municipal insurance package program was solvent according to his financial information. Resolution No. 83-205 was passed.

Mr. Willis McNeely was present regarding an agreement he is proposing between the Township of Snowdon, himself, The Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden, the Municipality of Dysart et al and Stanhope Township. The hostel would be operated on a cost sharing basis between these townships. Council has advised that a meeting with our solicitor was required before a decision at the council table could be made.

Mr. Haven Cook attended council regarding our proposal to collect garbage throughout the Townships. He suggested that containers be placed at strategic locations which would then be hauled to one central dumping site. Council advised that the township is interested in preserving the life of our dumps and suggested that garbage must be compacted in order to comply with that interest.

• Moved by G. Kenney, seconded by P. Burk that Anson, Hindon and Minden council wishes its county council representatives to propose a county study that will investigate the possibilities of a centralized containerization and compaction waste disposal agreement amongst all townships. Carried.

Bruce Nesbitt attended

Nellie Brown

She has not got eyes of violet blue, nor are they a deep dark brown.
But there is something about Nellie you can't help but like
She is a popular girl in our town.

Come along Dobbin,
shake them old legs,
Stop your lookin' around,
don't keep me late,
for I got a date,
To meet Miss Nellie in town.

If you happen to take Nellie out to a dance,
Anywhere in our town,
You will find it a sin,
how the boys they cut in,
When you are dancing with Miss Nellie Brown.

She always wears a cute little smile,
seldom if ever a frown.
But I will tell right here,
you won't need wine or beer.
While you are showing
Miss Nellie around.

If you happen to stroll
some evening to town,
And you see the young men standing round.
All dressed very neat,
you can bet your false teeth,
that Miss Nellie Brown is in town.

Her hair is not of golden blond, nor is it a deep dark brown.
But there is something about Nellie,
that everyone likes,
she is an old-fashioned girl in our town.

Barnyard Cackle

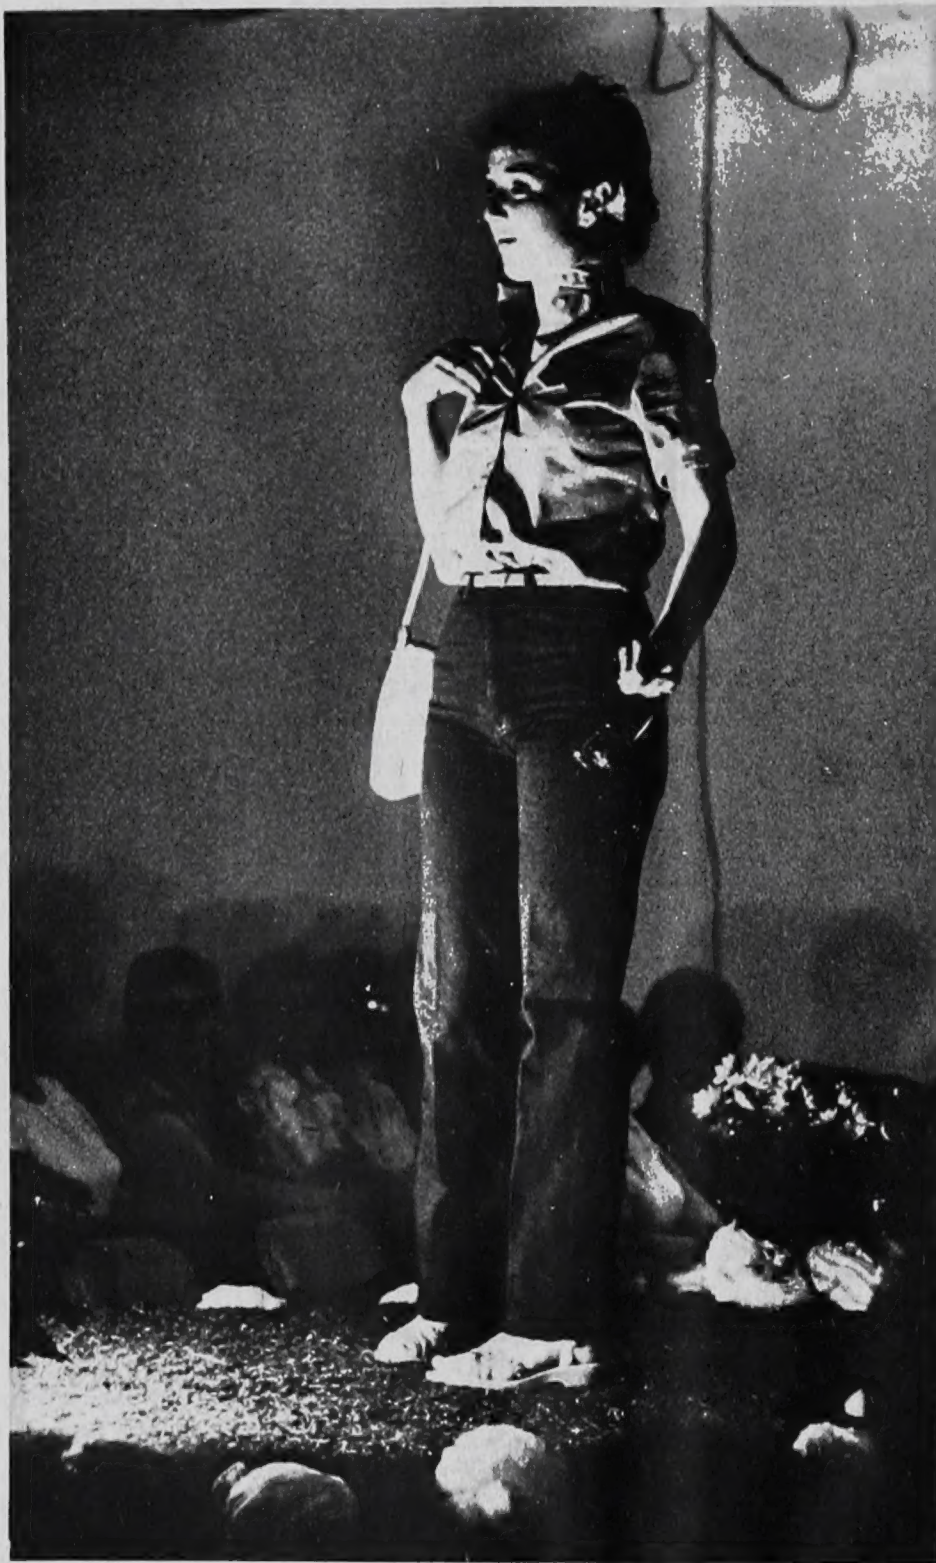

Now here's a little cockerel,
He's talking to his hen;
The logic of our conduct
Is far beyond his ken.

And, folks, this little cockerel
Is an educated fowl.
He's looking at the headlines, folks,
Which explains his scowl.

He glances at the little hen;
Says he, "Cut out the jabber!"
Doing some mighty cackling
She's just come out of labor.

Says he to her "G'won, put it back,
You might as well just cork it."
This headline tells of starving folks,
The other says no market.

Farmer's Association has over 70 people members

by Leopoldina Dobrzynsky

The Haliburton County Farmer's Association has about 70 members. It represents the interest of local livestock owners and crop producers. It also provides a medium for discussion of problems common to its members and their solutions.

Some of the associations' goals are to promote improvement in the quality of food produced in the county and to sponsor projects which will be helpful in marketing as well.

The association holds monthly meetings, field days and tours which are also open to the general public. There is renewed interest in agriculture locally and this is reflected in the growing attendance at meetings and tours. (Even torrential rains did not deter 50 people from attending the association's last meeting at the sheep farm of Ted and Mimi Carson in Lochlin). In the summer the association sponsors a Farmer's Market in Minden, where farm fresh, locally grown, food can be purchased.

For further information on the association contact the secretary, Maureen Warburton at 457-1299.

Do you have a problem, need information? Call your Haliburton County Information Centre, 457-2733. Open Monday to Friday, 9 to 4 p.m.

Co-ordinator takes office

After more than two years of work by a local advisory board, the position of coordinator of children's services for Haliburton County has been filled and an office opened to serve the public. The office is located in Haliburton village in the family services building.

This project receives 100 per cent funding through the Peterborough office of the Ministry of Community and Social Services. Supervision of the programme is provided by the local board of education.

The aim of the program is to be a positive support to families of securing service for children with special needs. Services vary in scope from aid for infant stimulation to teenage counselling.

Michael Wood, a graduate of Haliburton Highlands Secondary School and the University of Waterloo has returned to the county to take up the position of coordinator. One of his first duties will be to make families and organizations aware of the variety of services that are available. Direct assistance will be arranged for families as referrals are received.

Junior Agriculturalist program

One hundred more young people from Ontario's urban centres will have a chance to experience farm life this summer.

Through the Junior Agriculturalist Program, close to 290 youths will be working on farms, distributed across the province. They will experience farmers' valuable knowledge and learn about animal husbandry, machinery handling and general farm labour.

The experience is not limited to farm skills, but includes every aspect of living with the farm family.

Because of the expansion of the program's capacity, the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food can offer more opportunities to commercial farmers. In the area of Victoria-Haliburton, Peterborough, Northumberland, Hastings, Prince Edward, Lennox-Addington and Frontenac Counties, approximately 37 students will be involved in the program.

Students will arrive for a nine-week period, beginning June 20. Funded by the Ontario Youth Secretariat and administered by the Rural Organizations and Services Branch of the ministry, the Junior Agriculturalists receive a training allowance of $16 a day.

If you are interested in being a host farmer please contact your local Ministry of Agriculture and Food office.

A day in the life of MPP John Eakins

by MARTIN BIEFER
Echo Editor

John Eakins is pretty sure that few constituents in his Victoria-Haliburton riding know exactly what goes on down at Queen's Park.

And indeed, it's not what one might expect.

Eakins, the Liberal MPP for the riding since 1975, says the battle for most rural politicians is one of "doing the job" at Queen's Park while still "making the rounds" of the riding. Too much time in the riding, and you're not thought of highly in the legislature. Not enough time "back home" and you're "invisible," says Eakins.

"You've got to do the job you were elected to do," he says. "It does no good to complain about it...and I don't."

Peculiar environment

When the legislature is sitting, most of the MPPs move to rented quarters in Toronto, rather than staying at home. Eakins has a rented apartment in Sutton Place -- a building that's "home on the road" for many elected officials.

What's interesting, he notes, is the amount of time you spend at the legislature during a day.

Beginning at 8:00 a.m., there's breakfast in the Legislature's restaurant. "It's nice...but it's a cafeteria compared to the (Ottawa) parliamentary restaurant," laughs Eakins.

Perhaps, but what's the most interesting is the sea of familiar faces milled around the tables, talking. "It's a place where MPPs of all parties can get together and nonchalantly pick each other's brains," explains Eakins.

On this particular day -- a Thursday -- the opposition MPPs are wondering how the government benches will react to the premier's announcement that he will not run for the federal Tory leadership.

"I'll bet he gets a standing ovation," Eakins says. However, the opposition parties will be watching more closely for any signs of frustration on the faces of Tory ministers like Dennis Timbrell and Larry Grossman -- who had already "got the war chests out" for a provincial leadership campaign.

Although the Liberals don't know it after breakfast, the big news of the day will be the budget leak -- the pages of the budget about to be found by Globe and Mail reporters in garbage outside a printing plant.

After breakfast in the restaurant (a lavish enough place, featuring subsidized prices and a "no-waiting" clause for elected officials) it's back upstairs to the fourth floor of the Whitney Block -- the headquarters of the official opposition.

"We had a very productive meeting today," says Eakins. The Liberal Rural Task Force, chaired by our local MPP, has met to decide on a date for their first meeting. It will be held in Goderich June 1, and Eakins and other force members Herb Epp, Jack Riddell, Gordon Miller, Robert McKessock and Earl McEwen are looking forward to it.

Eakins explains that opposition-led inquiries are often very valuable -- since the government takes the ideas brought forward and uses them in future legislation. "Of course we won't get any credit for the ideas...but we're used to that," he says, adding that credit is less important than results.

Then, lunch -- again in the legislature restaurant. "You spend a lot of time here," muses Eakins, looking around. The place is buzzing with conversation. To our left, a large party of NDPers -- including Richard Johnson, of the welfare diet -- joke over their meals.

Liberal and Tory members are also in evidence. Municipal Affairs and Housing Minister Claude Bennett has a sandwich. Intergovernmental Affairs Minister Doug Wiseman talks to a friend several tables away. Eakins opts for a "Queen's Park club."

Although there's a rather impressive array of elected talent in the room, the mood is relaxed and happy. "You'd be surprised at what you hear around here," says Eakins. Members from opposite sides of the house often get together here informally, he says. "Generally, we get along quite well with one another," he adds.

The stage is set for the centrepiece of the day's activities -- question period.

Hockey game

As the Liberals had predicted, the Tories give their leader a standing ovation as he walks into the house. Is it an accident that opposition members find themselves locked out on their side of the assembly -- with the doors opening just as the applause dies down?

The press gallery fills with journalists -- and there, standing above them all, is Claire Hoy of the Toronto Sun. While the rest of the press corps seems faceless, jacketed and tied, Hoy paces furiously across the back row, his arms folded across his sweat shirt.

The bright and tepid television lights have been flicked on. And, on the walls of the assembly, a huge digital timer resets to one hour. Amid much thumping of desks, and hoots of derision, our elected officials prepare for their hour of glory before the cameras.

It's like a debate in school. Opposition speakers are hooted down by government members. Several Tories snicker about the loudness of David Peterson's tie as he questions Frank Millar and Bill Davis on job creation.

When Agriculture Minister Dennis Timbrell walks in, he's greeted with jeers, and cries of "what are you going to do with all the money, Dennis?" He smiles wanly.

The score clock ticks on. The NDP has struck a sore point, calling for answers about an Extendercare issue. But the Tories simply revert the question to Health Minister Larry Grossman -- who's not there -- leaving it unanswered.

The screaming and accusations reach a crescendo -- the seconds tick off, however, and question period ends.

Our MP has heckled several cabinet ministers; however, he won't be asking a question until the next sitting. The Liberals have a list that they follow dutifully for questions. Members, as well, are briefed fully before each session.

Now, the scrum.

Outside, in the hall, a small enclave of about 30 reporters -- the epitome of pack journalism -- hovers from member to member. Here Bob Rae answers questions on Extendercare -- with dozens of microphones thrust into his face while blinding lights illuminate it for the cameras. You can't hear much, even from close up.

David Peterson, the Liberal leader, strolls along, apparently waiting to field questions. Soon, reporters corner him, and microphones come out once more.

Throughout the plush, red-carpeted hall MPPs stand ready for reporters. Eakins says that the officials know that "the reporters... have to file by four."

One of the only reporters not scurrying it is Claire Hoy, who chats with Eakins and Peterson. They're talking about why Davis didn't run.

"He wants to spend more time with his family," says Hoy (himself a cottager in the Carnarvon area). "I may disagree with his politics -- but I respect his family life."

After Hoy leaves, Eakins calls him "a gentleman" but adds that MPPs are often furious after they read his morning column. "He speaks his mind, that's for sure."

It's close to four. Eakins goes back up to his office to make and answer his calls. He's back in time for a non-confidence speech from Renfrew North MPP Sean Conway.

Conway, who Bill Davis calls the "leader in waiting" of the Liberal party, is a man well-versed in the art of speaking. As the timer counts down, Conway eloquently insults every member of the Tory party -- although only a handful are sitting across the floor from him.

The only full house, in fact, is the Liberal benches. Nearly all of the opposition's thirty or so members are on hand -- pounding the benches.

No one sits in the press gallery. The TV lights are off. The NDP and Liberals conclude their speeches, and as they end, Bill Davis strides back into the house. Within minutes the Tory benches are filled -- and in the same interval, reporters stream back into the press gallery.

Davis is brilliant today. He's happy, it seems, to be back. He suggests Conway, the most eligible bachelor in Renfrew County, get married -- so as to increase his general wisdom. Tory MPP Susan Fish is suggested as a possible consort, to guffaws from the Conservative benches.

Then, the premier reads a quote attacking the NDP -- calling them nothing more than whining idealists with no hope of attaining power. As the NDP members howl, Davis reveals the name of the article's author -- Bob Rae, the NDP leader. He had written it in the University of Toronto Varsity, back in 1967.

"I was too young to vote then," retorts Rae weakly.

The non-confidence motion comes to the vote. The party whips go out, make sure all are present, and bow together before the speaker as the vote is taken. It's no surprise -- the majority Tory government holds on to power.

Time for dinner break.

At dinner, Eakins sits with Robert Nixon, and other MPPs. MPP Eric Cunningham, before dinner, speaks highly of Eakins' committee work.

"He gives everything he can to the committees," he says. Like Eakins, Cunningham is one of a group of Liberals elected in 1975 in what had been traditional Tory seats. The Liberal caucus is close-knit and friendly, and tired of being in opposition.

"I know we could do a better job," says Cunningham.

About the same time, the news of the budget leak hits home. Several members -- including Cunningham -- laugh at Frank Miller's misfortune.

After supper, the committee meetings begin. Eakins is a member of the general government committee, the ombudsman's committee, and the task force.

He's had a busy week...up to Maple Lake for the unveiling of a plaque Sunday. Three engagements Saturday, one Sunday.

"I've got to try and get to everything Bill (Scott, the Tory federal MP) doesn't," he points out. The riding is enormous -- from Oxtongue Lake in the north all the way down to the Sutton area in the south.

Eakins says it's hard to get to areas like Wilberforce and Dorset -- but he has made the trip before, and will again.

The typical day ends about 11 p.m. Then, it's back to the hotel room, and to bed. There's a long day ahead.

John Eakins' office at Queen's Park overlooks the University of Toronto campus. The Liberal members occupy the fourth floor of the Whitney Block, and have a caucus room near the Legislative Assembly.

When Parliament is sitting Eakins spends a long day in the house, including morning and evening committee meetings and house sittings in the afternoon.

Eakins feels a politician must divide his time equally between his duties at Queen's Park and in the riding. He spends a great deal of time "on the road" in Victoria-Haliburton, which stretches all the way from Sutton in the south to Oxtongue Lake in the north.

Sherborne council holds regular meet

A regular meeting of Sherborne et al council was held April 11 at the Dorset Fire Hall.

Members included reeve Dalton MacDonald, deputy-reeve Donald Shortreed and councillors Marilyn Jarvis, Joyce McKey and Edward Vallance. Employees present included clerk-treasurer Diane J. Griffin and road superintendent Delbert Page. Guests and ratepayers on hand were Victor Furnandiz, Jon Derry, Lutterworth deputy reeve Major Glynne Lewis and councillor Al Stott, Anson, Hindon and Minden councillor Gary Kenney and KBL Bridge Association reps Cliff Watson and Lionel Villeneuve.

Resolutions

• Moved by Marilyn Jarvis, seconded by Ed Vallance that the minutes for the last regular meeting of council held on March 28, 1983 be approved as circulated. Carried.

Road superintendent Delbert Page reported to council.

Jon Derry was heard by members of council to concerns dealing with his driveway off the new diversion to County Road 8. The clerk was directed to arrange a time convenient with county engineer Bill Obee to attend council to discuss the issue.

• Moved by Don Shortreed, seconded by Joyce McKey whereas council has been in receipt of tenders for the purpose of screening winter sand, and duly opened at the regular council meeting of this date; be it resolved that council accepts the tender from JAC Kernohan Construction Ltd. to screen 3,200 c. yds. at a total price of $2,720.00. Carried unanimously.

• Moved by Ed Vallance, seconded by Marilyn Jarvis that road voucher 3 in the amount of $12,374.47 be approved for payment for the month of March 1983 expenditures. Carried.

Next on the agenda was a visitation from KBL Bridge Association members, Cliff Watson and Lionel Villeneuve. Over a period of 1½ hours a lengthy discussion took place in respect to recent order from the Supreme Court of Ontario. The indemnity agreement to be signed between the township and KBL Bridge Association was reviewed.

Council then discussed the waste management study prepared by Greer Galloway on behalf of the County of Haliburton. Clerk was directed to correspond with county clerk with some questions.

Council members from both Lutterworth Township and Anson, Hindon and Minden Township spoke to council on the planned information booth to be set up on

Curtis Eastmure (as Bill Scant) tries to hide his identity from Doris Chisholm (played by Heather Scully) during the first act of "Nurse Jane Goes to Hawaii," performed Friday and Saturday nights at

Witnesses attend convention

Local Witnesses and their families were among the 1688 delegates to a two-day convention held at the Assembly Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses in Norval, Ontario, last weekend.

The theme of the gathering "Be Rich Toward God, Not Covetous" was developed through talks and demonstrations designed to help those in attendance apply principles from the Bible in their lives. In today's world there is much covetousness, which is a desire for things belonging to others and greed, delegates were told, and Christians must guard against being influenced by this attitude. Rather than being self-serving, those who want to please God must put his work foremost in their lives.

On Saturday, 17 demonstrated by baptism through full immersion that they have decided to make God's work the most important thing in their lives.

Stunning success for Little Theatre

by MARTIN BIEFER
Echo Editor

It was, in this writer's opinion, their best play yet.

The Highlands Little Theatre production of "Nurse Jane Goes to Hawaii," staged this weekend, was a well-paced witty and gripping work. The play, set in Toronto, seemed to be right up the company's street, and they went to it with relish.

Betty Perugino was once more a sparkplug, as Vivian Bliss, the frustrated "novelist." To make up for her lack of success in her own love life, Vivian's schmaltzy Harlequin Romance stories create amorous adventures for the fictitious Nurse Jane. Vivian's reality is a thin, slowly-disappearing line between this fiction and fact. She tries to react as Nurse Jane would.

As in "The Savage Dilemma" Perugino gives the role a certain mad panache.

As well, her enthusiasm is contagious.

Another standout performance is that of Heather Scully, as Doris Chisholm the "Dear Abby" styled columnist. As one would imagine, Scully's character reacts to any situation -- including her husband's affair with Vivian -- with detached, amused benevolence.

This is a women's play. The women are the stronger characters, and the editor's role of Brenda Ellis as Betty Scant is also excellent. Betty constantly berates her wino husband Bill (delightfully played by Curtis Eastmure) and her equally weak first husband Edgar Chisholm (played with suitable fuddyness by Jim Andrews).

The younger players mirror the values of their elders -- a tough woman reporter (Peggy Scant, played by Bonnie Fitzgerald) and the homeless 25-year-old waif Peter Prior, played by Craig Bugden, is again a rudderless male.

But everything seems to work out in the end. The tangled web of lineage (Bill Scant and Doris Chisholm are Peggy's parents, while Betty Scant and Edgar Chisholm are Peter's) is resolved over a game of cards.

This excellent, funny play puts the Little Theatre up a full notch in professionalism. They've come an awful long way over the years, and quite far since their last effort just months ago.

WHEN THEY LOSE TIME, PEOPLE LOSE LIVES.

In an emergency, time is a precious commodity and every second counts.

So when you hear the siren or see the flashing light of a fire truck, ambulance or police car, remember that lives may be at stake and obey the following regulations:

- ◇ Always bring your vehicle to a stop as close as possible to the side of the road and clear of any intersection.
- ◇ Do not follow a responding fire department vehicle within 150 metres (500 feet).

THE TIME THEY SAVE MAY SAVE LIVES.

Dorset seniors remember their past

It was a day filled with memories.

A Seniors Pioneer Luncheon was held in the Dorset Community Centre Sunday, and it gave a crowd of about 75 older past and present Dorset citizens a chance to recall the good old days.

Some, like Mrs. Orie Avery, came dressed in period costume. "I'm dressed as one of the original settlers... Miss Harvey," she told the Echo. She said there's been a lot of changes over the years, but added that Dorset "is still a beautiful place to live."

Percy Cassidy lived and worked in Minden for years before retiring to Dorset. The people have come and gone, and tourism has changed things, he said. "We hardly know anyone when we go back to Minden," he said.

Some of the changes he's seen include the expansion of Robertson's Store, the renovation of the Lumberjack Inn, the building of the Nordic Inn, and improvements to all the highways.

A major change in tourism as a focus of life in the community occurred "within the last four or five years," he said.

Stan Booker agreed. The change from lumbering to tourism has come "gradually" over the years. Tourism has always been a factor in Dorset, he adds.

"People used to come up and stay in the old Wawa Hotel," he pointed out. That venerable old structure was lost to fire in 1923.

The original mill was Shrigley's Mill, which was soon followed by McKay's Mill "across the bay" from the hamlet. There were two boom periods of logging in the area...before the first war, and immediately following the second world war, he said.

"In 1945 and 46 there were seven mills operating around the Vankoughnet area," he noted.

The Lumberjack Inn, interestingly, was a three-floor hotel and a longtime landmark in the city until very recently, when it was chopped down to one floor, re-roofed, and re-modelled.

Independent

The original Dorset school was located on the old Hollow Lake Road, said Booker.

He is a life-long resident of Dorset, as was his father before him.

Interestingly, children in Dorset go to Huntsville to receive their secondary education. That town is just 22 miles away, and Bracebridge is just 30 minutes away.

The hamlet was originally called Cedar Narrows, and

Mrs. Orie Avery (right) and Mrs. Hilda Kelly chat about the good old days in Dorset. Mrs. Avery came dressed in a period costume. On Sunday, Dorset was the focal point for a get-together of friends...some of whom had not seen each other in 25 years.

These couples are true pioneers in the Dorset area. From left to right are Hector MacKay and his wife, Marcella and Mr. and Mrs. Orie Avery. The Averys were selected the Pioneer King and Queen for Pioneer Week coming up in July; and the MacKays will assist them.

AHM's Kenney favors plan

Anson, Hindon and Minden Coun. Gary Kenney showed enthusiasm for his new position on a Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce steering committee last Thursday by spearheading a motion to advertise a provincial government program in the Minden press.

Coun. Kenney said he wanted to spread word of the new Small Business Management Development Program in Minden, adding that he would be knocking on doors in the area as well.

Council questioned the wisdom and costs of advertising a Chamber project. Deputy-reeve Ed Pergolas asked if the Chamber themselves might not be advertising the project. Coun. Kenney's request for a display ad was honed down to a classified ad after the deputy-reeve asked aloud where "we are going to get the money" for such unbudgeted plans.

Consultant's service

Bob Stinson of the Chamber, reached Monday, was slightly surprised by Coun. Kenney's move, adding that a letter mailed to him "had not asked him" to advertise the program.

"We just asked him to sit on the steering committee. On May 26 he will attend his first meeting," said Stinson. The Chamber plans to place ads as well "but it's a little bit early" at this time, he said.

A public meeting is scheduled for June 8 at the Wig-a-Mog Inn.

The steering committee will select 25 applicants for the program. Stinson said there would be no "geographic breakdown" between Haliburton and Minden in terms of participation in the project, but rather businesses would be selected "on the basis of need."

Besides Kenney and Stinson, accountant Roger Dart, lawyer Ray Selbie, bankers Al Mayo of Minden and Walt Prime of Haliburton and Chamber reps George Schmid and Dennis Casey will sit on the steering committee.

"They (the committee) will decide upon whatever criteria should be used to make a selection decision," said Stinson. "There could be 25 businesses from Minden or 25 from Haliburton."

Those selected will receive 12 hours of free consultation from a consultant provided by the Ministry of Industry and Trade. Consultants "will have a look at what the business is doing...and provide free advice on how to do it better."

Advice can be useful to businesses having trouble, or for those thinking of expanding.

"Only the business person sees the report...it is strictly confidential," he said.

Coun. Kenney and Stinson both expressed support for the program last week.

Both agreed it was important that as many business people as possible in the area be made aware of the June 8 meeting.

When the price of gasoline dropped in Haliburton village last Thursday, there was a mad dash to the pumps. And who is that, in the lead car, at the head of the dash? Why it's the Echo's own Creighton Feir, never one to pass up a bargain. As we went to press Tuesday the price of regular gas was still just 25.6 cents a litre.

From the front page

• Committee favors go-ahead

If all the recommendations are accepted by the two councils, July 1 will be the opening day. Reeve McKnight said Coun. Kenney will help train the two staff members "so they don't go into their job cold."

Lutterworth Township has already purchased the property, and will put down a concrete pad and carry out landscaping. Reeve McKnight said one of the mini-fair buildings will be used as a booth. Other expenses -- such as staffing, hydro and telephone costs -- will be split, said the reeve.

Reve McKnight estimated it will cost $3,000 to staff the booth for 10 weeks. That money will be raised "some way or another," he said, adding that both municipalities will try to obtain other grants for the project.

It will be the first use of the mini-fair pavilions -- modular log buildings that can be easily transported and quickly assembled.

AHM council have stated that they will work closely with the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce's booth, located a few miles farther up the road. The Chamber had questioned the practicality of having two booths on Highway 35 -- but AHM officials view their booth as a service that will "augment" that of the Chamber.

Reeve McKnight said that the first year of operations will be modest -- from July 1 to Labor Day. He pointed out again that all plans are committee recommendations at this point, and must be passed by council before any action is taken.

• Minden still bailing out

92 per cent to 108 per cent in spite of large flow increases from the tributary watersheds of the Gull and Burnt rivers."

In Dysart, the rain caused numerous road washouts and damaged a large Ministry of Transportations and Communications culvert on Highway 118. Reeve Murray Fearrey estimated damage in the $20,000 to $30,000 range.

Rains also damaged the PineStone Inn's golf course, delaying its opening.

A busy day for AHM councillors

As Coun. Dave Stevens took his oath of office Thursday he was perhaps unaware of the job ahead of him. Indeed, a good deal of business was accomplished at Thursday's regular meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden council.

Hostel

Willis McNeely appeared before council to discuss AHM's possible financial involvement in the Homewood Acres Hostel, located near Lochlin.

McNeely is proposing a joint operating agreement between the townships of Snowdon, Dysart, AHM and Stanhope. Council plans to meet with their solicitor to settle questions of liability before entering into any agreement.

Once funding is arranged, McNeely said he plans to build two new double bedrooms and a large bathroom.

Containers

Haven Cook appeared before council to discuss a containerized garbage disposal system. He suggested that municipalities, on a county-wide level might purchase the containers.

Cook would then transport them to a centralized dump.

Coun. Gary Kenney said that while he agreed to the principle of containerization, it would do little to solve the main problem -- the need to extend the useful life of local dumps.

"If you could compact garbage, you'd have something," he told Cook.

To carry the idea of a new service a step farther, council drafted a motion to propose "a county study that will investigate the possibilities of a centralized containerization and compaction waste disposal agreement amongst all townships."

Cook had appeared before Dysart council with his plan a week ago Monday. Reeve Murray Fearrey advised him that containerization -- which is the practice in Muskoka District -- would have to be carried out county-wide in order to be practical.

Spring fling should be a memorable event for all

The Haliburton Recreation Committee's first-ever "Spring-Fling" will take place this weekend...and should prove to be fun for all.

Haliburton's Rotary Club, Kinsmen Club, Royal Canadian Legion (Branch 129), Lions' Club, and boy-scouts and girl guides are jointly sponsoring the event, as is the Municipality of Dysart et al.

At 9 p.m. Saturday the Spring Fling Dance will take place at the Legion. The band is "Six Pack" and admission is $10 a couple. The Kinsmen Club of Haliburton will sponsor the event.

On Sunday at 11 a.m. there will be a fish derby at Head Lake. A parade takes place at 12 noon with the official opening of the Fling taking place at 12:30 p.m.

The Haliburton Senior Elementary School band are featured at the bandshell at 1 p.m. as is a kid's horseshoe tournament. At 1:30 the Reeve's paddleboat challenge takes place at the lake. A tennis tourney gets underway at Rotary Beach park.

The HHSS school stage band takes to the bandshell at 2 p.m., and a beef barbeque gets underway at Head Lake Park. A kid's shuffleboard tournament also will take place.

A snowmobile watercross demonstration will take place at 3 p.m., as well as kids paddleboat races and the Junior Dixieland Band's performance at the bandshell.

A waterski show is set at 3:30 p.m., and at 4 p.m. the Legion Pipe Band takes the stage. Novelty races will be held, for kids, in the park.

An adult shuffleboard tourney takes place at 4:40, the Senior Dixieland Band takes the stage at 5 p.m. and a frisbee throwing competition goes at 6 p.m.

Then follows a canoe race at 6:30 p.m., and open air church service at 7:30 p.m., fireworks at 9 p.m. and the closing ceremony (and 50-50 draw) at 9:40 p.m.

Throughout the day there will be an antique and custom car show, a three-wheeler exhibit, an air ambulance display, and a Guild of Fine Arts show and sale.

If the weather doesn't cooperate the Fling will be held May 23.

Stevens gets sworn in

Hopes to contribute at AHM council

Dave Stevens took more than just the bible in his hands Thursday as he was sworn in as an Anson, Hindon and Minden councillor.

Coun. Stevens, owner of Minden's Beaverbrook Golf Club, replaces former councillor Larry Cummins, who resigned his seat due to health problems.

The new councillor will take over most of Cummins' duties -- including membership on such committees as waste management, property and sidewalks (beyond the BIA area), publicity and promotion, the cemetery board, streetlights and the fire department.

Stevens was given a round of applause by council as he took his seat Thursday.

"We'd like to welcome you, Dave," began Reeve Lyle McKnight. He added that council had found it "a little bit tough" working with one less member in recent months. He said Larry Cummins would be missed.

"I'd also like to thank council for doing its best to pick up the slack," said the reeve.

"I hope I can contribute," said Coun. Stevens. "I'M SURE I'll learn quite a bit."

"I've found that as long as you're here, you keep on learning," advised the reeve.

Reeve McKnight then took a glance around the council table. "I guess we'll keep you two taller guys (Stevens and Gary Kenney) at the far end...it gives me, Ed and Pat a better view," joked the diminutive reeve.

"You could call it 'the long and the short of it' here at council," he added with a laugh.

"Who's been writing your material?" rejoined Coun. Kenney.

Saunders gets nod for NEED job

Anson, Hindon and Minden council will ask local engineer Godfrey Saunders to head up their $199,000 re-vitalization project.

After reviewing 11 applications for the position of CAUSE-Plus project manager, Deputy-reeve Ed Pergolas and Coun. Gary Kenney chose Saunders' name. Council passed a motion supporting their decision last Thursday.

"Remuneration will be within (project) budget guidelines," said Coun. Kenney. The actual salary level will be announced in the near future, he added.

Saunders is a qualified full-time engineer, and according to Kennedy carried out similar revitalization work in Lindsay recently.

All the applications were good ones," he said. "Some very distinguished people applied."

PineStone Inn begins $134,000 expansion

Haliburton's PineStone Inn is continuing to expand its facilities.

Work continues on the addition of nine new holes for the golf course, and Wayne McGilvary reports a new pro shop/restaurant and three chalets in the woods are keeping officials from the Inn "fairly busy these days."

Dysart council passed a motion to issue building permits for the construction, which will be carried out at an estimated cost of $134,000.

"We're anticipating that the pro shop portion will be open in the middle of June, or in the first of July," said McGilvary. The new pro shop expansion will provide golfers (and cross-country skiers in the winter) with a restaurant facility outside the main building.

"A golfer will be able to enjoy a light lunch or an early breakfast,"

And here they speak of surplus,
Too many eggs they grump,
Will just depress the market,
So they throw them on the dump.

And there's an idea going, Lass,
To put it into words,
They're seriously at thinking, Lass,
Of gassing all you birds.

Oh, my God! The wee hen cries,
And promptly drops her tail.
Won't they ever think for once
To blame it on the male?

Well, says he, they might do that.
God forbid! but then
The facts are very simple,
What's a cock without a hen.

But when you think about it, Lass,
It's really just too bad,
The fact folks cannot correlate
Is positively sad.

While many folks are starving,
And begging them for food,
These gentle folks so pious,
And otherwise so good,

They sit them at the table
And solemnly say grace,
Yet despoil His bounties.
Indeed a sad, sad, case.

I find it quite confusing,
The reasoning of men.
But after all, Lass, who are we?
A cockerel and a hen.

Owed to St. Paul

My Cabin nestles in the woods,
It is a home for me.
But God owns everything about
As far as the eye can see.

His are the trees so tall and green;
His is the lake so blue and serene,
I hear His loons as they scream and shout;
I see His chipmunks when they sit and pout.

A deer sauntered down to the shore one day.
His head went down - had he knelt to pray?
He returned to the woods to find his mate;
No need to hurry - he wouldn't be late.

A tortoise strolled by at a steady pace;
He had no worries nor thought of a race.
The hare was probably some other place.

I learn a lot in the woods each day.
My joy is restored. I begin to pray
And thank Saint Paul for what he meant -
"I find where I am to be content."

Senior League

by BERT HARRISON

Sorry to miss the service in the chapel Sunday night, if you don't go to church on Sunday the day doesn't seem just right. We had our family call, it being Mother's Day, so when it came service time I was ready to hit the hay. Our president of the Residents Council Edith Welch and Vice-President Lola Prentice went to Toronto to a Seniors' Seminar. Lola's son and wife took them up by car. We hope they had a real nice time no matter where they go, they met a lot of seniors from all over Ontario.

We have three university students working here at Hyland Crest, Stephanie, Neil and Tara. We hope that they will like it here, we wish them all the best.

Linda is here all by herself to see that everything goes, doing a real good job of it too, while her sister is indisposed.

Tuesday morning, Rev. Wicks of the Minden Gospel Church conducted a most interesting service. It was a beautiful day. He spoke on repentance in a very impressive way. Our faithfuls came again to sing and play.

We welcome Beth and Fred Parker back again, after being south since I don't remember when. We have Joan Kernohan back from a week's holiday, we always miss Joan when she is away. John Stewart has sold his home, just below the hill, I asked what will you do with the money John, and he said

"I may leave it in my will." We have changed our games time from Wednesday night to Tuesday afternoon, when you get tired of playing games you can sit and spoon.

Tuesday night, Crowe, Deacon and Payne came to Hyland Crest to entertain again. They played and sang some Scottish songs that was really fine. Daryl sang some love songs and we had a jolly time.

The ladies are making dolls and toys for the July bazaar, and there are cute wee rocking chairs made by Teddy Carr.

The Carnarvon U.C.W. we call the faithful four, brought in a lovely lunch on Thursday, what could we ask for more.

I think I have told our readers how we are truly blest and how well we are cared for at Hyland Crest. Each Wednesday evening the orderly gives me a real good bath in the downstairs tub, then the nurse comes in and says, "would you like a rub?" This completed she says we are so busy as can be, but we'll be down again to bring you pills and tea.

The bingo was put on Thursday night by members of the Kinsmen Club who did the call just right. We appreciate your coming each Thursday night.

Friday morning instead of fun and fitness, Linda had a most interesting movie for us to witness. It was called,

The good old days in Dorset hamlet

then Colebridge, after early surveyor Zachariah Cole. "Then," said Booker, it was named Dorset "for Dorsetshire, in England."

The community flourished as a lumber centre. It never got the rail access that its neighbors to the south, Haliburton and Minden, enjoyed.

"They began to clear the right of way for a rail line," said Booker, "but they got only as far as Baysville. They never laid a piece of rail in Dorset."

Reeve Dalt MacDonald of Sherborne et al said once interesting change in Dorset is the "recovery" of the longlost townships of Lawrence and Nightengale, up to now part of Algonquin Park. The municipal assessor "has to go up there and examine the area," said the reeve. A grant-in-lieu of taxes is also expected from the province.

Tories and Grits

There's a peculiar situation in Dorset. Half the main street is Muskoka District (Frank Millar's Tory riding) and the other half is in Haliburton County (under John Eakin's Grits).

"We usually don't see either of them until there's an election," laughed Booker.

Norman McKay recalled that it was his father, Angus, who built one of the first mills in the area.

A film was shown, showing the old Lumberjack in its glory days, and the old gas station in Dorset. Clayton's General Store and Jerry Clayton were featured, as were Oscar Sawyer and Fred McGee.

But the real value of the day was the way in which the older folks got together with their friends. People came from as far away as Michigan, Niagara Falls, St. Catharines and Oshawa to attend the gathering.

Organizer Priscilla Lewis said the day serves as a preview for Pioneer Week, set for the week of July 30 to August 6.

"The Lake of Bays community of Dorset played a large part in the early development of both Muskoka District and Haliburton County," she notes in a press release. "The lumber industry in particular thrived here for many years, and the numerous steamships on the lake moved both passengers and freight as the tourist trade began."

The purpose of the luncheon was "to honor those early pioneers" and it brought together people "who hadn't seen each other in 25 years."

Besides Reeve MacDonald, other guests included Lake of Bays Mayor Malcolm Scott, Chris Schuetze of the Dorset Lions Club, and Rev. Kim Wright, pastor of the Dorset / Hillside United Church.

Training equine champions

by MARTIN BIEFER
Echo Editor

Horses are just like children.

That's how Penny Crawford, daughter of Marg Harrison and the late Orval Harrison of Carnarvon, sums up the precise art of championship horse training.

You need a lot of patience to train horses, she says. "I've learned a lot by myself...I find you can use 'horse psychology' which is out-thinking them. If you lose your temper, you've got to just walk away. Getting angry does no good."

Crawford, who along with husband Derwin is now looking for a farm in the county, has been an equestrian enthusiast all her life.

She owns several horses. Lazy Kelly Kilobar is a registered quarterhorse filly, daughter of Ja Bar Sugar, a bay mare.

The quarterhorse "is a working horse...expert at roping, cutting, and other manoeuvres." Quarterhorses are also some of the most expensive horses in the world.

She has a chestnut mare as well, Penderbob Bee Ja, a registered quarter.

Her colt, Exchequer, can trace his heritage to Nashua and Swaps -- both triple crown winners from the E.P. Taylor Stables.

Crawford has a three-year old gelding, Lazer Bar Eighty, the son of Lazy Lucifer, supreme champion and a grand champion in many different events. Lazy Lucifer also placed in the world's top ten. He's owned by Boles Quarterhorses of Calgary.

Her bay mare "has won every class she's been in," and has taken home about 400 ribbons. "She's 11 years old now," says Crawford.

The chestnut mare "has taken home 30 first place ribbons and 30 grand champion's ribbons" but hasn't been shown as much since she was kicked in the neck and scarred.

The next big event for the Crawfords is the Ontario Breeder's Futurity, to be held at Picov Downs near Pickering in September. Crawford will show the foal at the Minden and Kimmount Fairs for experience.

The horses don't come cheap.

"I turned down thousands of dollars for the bay mare, and thousands for her foal," she says.

When the Crawfords find their farm, they plan to offer riding lessons, and hold clinics on the care of horses.

There's quite a bit of interest in quarter horses in this area, particularly around Lindsay, says Penny Crawford.

The ultimate goal, of course, would be the world's championship in Oklahoma City, she says, for Lazy Kelly Kilobar.

There are plans to race Exchequer, the stud colt. Crawford says that quarter horses are the world's fastest in the quarter mile.

Marg Harrison proudly holds aloft some of the trophies her daughter Penny has won over the years. In her right hand is Penny's Laboratory Animal Technicians papers, and in her left is "the big one," the Best Pony Presentation from the 1977 Calgary Stampede. The other awards (not in order) are for best mounted color party (first and second), senior high point Western, AABHA and Ugetuk Days sportsmanship, Halter awards from Ugetuk Days and the GCUD, a prize for T-Bones Western Wear and Saddlery, a Delsey Derby award, a mares and gelding class prize, and a "super" award for trail class competition...just some of Penny's many honors.

Quarter horses Ja Bar Sugar (left) and her filly, Lazy Kelly Lilobar, are just two of the horses owned by trainer Penny Crawford. Penny is the daughter of Marg Harrison and the late Orval Harrison of Carnarvon. The secret to training champion horses? "You have to out-think them," she says.

highway 35 near the Haliburton/Victoria County line. Major Glynn Lewis spoke on what was planned for the grounds, making it a seasonal at first in operation. The Township of Sherborne et al was asked to contribute into this proposal. No decision at this time was made.

Access points on both Raven Lake and Red Pine Lake were once again discussed dealing with the request for docking facility repair and construction of a new one on Red Pine. A letter was to be sent by the clerk to association members indicating that until such time an inspection could be made once the ice left the lakes, no decision could be made.

After further discussion took place on the KBL Bridge

Association proposal the following resolution was passed:

• Moved by Joyce McKey, seconded by Marilyn Marvis that council authorizes the reeve and clerk to execute the indemnity agreement dated March 11, 1983 between KBL Bridge Association and the Corporation of the Township of Sherborne, McClintock, Livingstone,

Lawrence and Nightingale, comprised of clauses one to 14 inclusive and the agreement is hereby appended. This is a result of an Order in the Supreme Court of Ontario, Divisional Court dated, February 21, 1983. Carried.

• Moved by Don Shortreed, seconded by Ed Vallance that council for the Corporation of the Township of Sherborne et al, recommends consent be given to land severance application H-23/83, being lands owned by Mr. and Mrs. Willy Dahl, located on part of lot 31, concession 12, Sherborne Township subject to the following conditions: (1) That the Ministry of Environment given approval to both retained and severed parcels. Carried unanimously.

• Moved by Joyce McKey, seconded by Marilyn Jarvis a motion to introduce by-law 867 for the purpose to close and stop up part of the original shore road allowance along the Hollow River in front of lot 4, concession 12, Township of Sherborne designated as part 1 on a plan of survey deposited in the Registry Office for the Registry Division of Haliburton as plan number 19R-2798. That part 1 upon being closed and stopped up will be sold to owner of land abutting Patrick and Patricia Balkwill. That by-law 867 be read a first, second and a third time, passed, signed and the corporate seal applied this 11th day of April, 1983. Carried.

Councillor Marilyn Jarvis requested a recorded vote on the next resolution:

• Moved by Joyce McKey, seconded by Don Shortreed that clerk is hereby authorized to pay statement of account submitted by Tobias and Bagshaw for professional services rendered, from the date of June 16, 1982 up to and including attendance at the Divisional Court in Toronto on February 21, 1983. Total amount of $2,574.36.

THE HALIBURTON COUNTY ECHO AND MINDEN RECORDER

Kinmount Korner

by Millie Moss

Major Ron Willard of the Canadian Air Force flew into North Bay from Colorado last week, phoned his mom, Vi Crego, and she and husband Albert drove to have a very nice visit with him, at North Bay from Thursday until Monday.

The Canadian Legion in Bobcaygeon, Branch 239 held a dart tournament on Saturday, May 7. Albert Crego officiated and the scores were: teams' winners: Kinmount, Coboconk's team 2 took second place and Lindsay's team 2 took third place.

In the doubles Coboconk were the winners, with Haliburton as runners-up. Kinmount's Pat Denemine took the singles while Coboconk's Al Weaver took second place.

High score went to Coboconk's John Weaver.

A Mrs. McDuff of Gooderham was $190 richer when she left the Kinmount Legion bingo on Friday night, May 6 after winning the jackpot on the 53rd number. Congratulations Mrs. McD.

It was nice to see "grandma" Bacon out to the bingo once again.

There will be a meeting of the Kinmount and District Horticultural Society executive on Thursday, May 19 at 8 p.m. to be held at the home of president Mary Martin Sr. Hope to see all of you there! To anyone interested in becoming one of our members please give me a call at 488-2353.

Victoria Day dance is to be held at the Galway Hall on the Galway Road off Highway 121, four miles south of Kinmount, at 8:30 on May 21. The hall accommodates 220. There will be spot and door prizes along with dancing to the music of Lyle Gannon, and radio/cassette early bird draw for August 6 lottery. Price is $4 each. Tickets available at the door or for reservations call 488-2217 - 488-2000. Sponsored by the Galway Culture and Recreation Committee. It sounds like a fun evening and hope you try to be there.

Seems it's been a very bad week for the fingers! Marlene Munro split both sides of a finger when a window fell on it. Glen Munro caught his finger in a window and little Melissa Munro received bruises to the back of her hand in the same manner. Then, our Jason had a thumb and forefinger caught between two patio slabs while playing with a friend and ended up at Minden Red Cross Hospital were the thumb nail had to be punctured to release congealed blood. He was definitely not a happy little boy. Hope all of you are better by now.

A very nappy birthday to Nora Brandon and another happy birthday to Dave McNamara, this time his 84th. At the St. Patrick's euchar party on Tuesday evening, May 10 Aileen Brown brought in one of her cake creations to help the two birthday people celebrate their big day, which was Thursday, May 12. Dave would like to thank Aileen once again and also to all the other folks who were so thoughtful of him on his birthday.

Hugh Phillips, who is now home from hospital, would like to extend his sincere thanks to his many friends, relatives and neighbours who showed they cared while he was so ill. Hugh says he received almost 80 cards plus phone calls, enquiries, prayers and moral support along with transportation for his wife, Mary and until he was a patient in Peterborough Civic he did not realize he had so many friends. Once again, thanks to all of you and God bless.

Wasn't that a beautiful day last Thursday? My good man and I added to the family that day by picking up Jason at the school bus and driving to Bethany where we picked up a beautiful red Setter named Riley. It's been years since we've had a dog and Jason loves him. Now maybe Jase will stop bringing in bugs and worms and introducing me to his latest "pet".

Jean and George Henderson were most welcome guests at the home of Mary and John Pyke last Wednesday. Don't forget to mark your calendar for the U.C.W. salad supper, on Saturday, May 28 to be held at the Kinmount Legion Hall. There will be a bazaar and home baked goodie table at 2:00 p.m. with dinner from 4 to 7 p.m. Adults $5.00, children under 12 years $2.00 and preschoolers free.

Bill and I were over at the house by the river last week, cleaning the place once again and you wouldn't believe how the old Burnt River is acting up! I had put large flower containers on top of tree stumps on the lower lawn, last fall and this week intended preparing them for planting, but it seems the river isn't where it usually is and the planters, stumps, a number of trees plus other things are now out in the river as said river has come up over the lawn and is now at the bottom of our hill.

I've been told by old timers they haven't seen it that high before. All the railway tracks and ties are also taken up over that way now. The boys worked last Saturday, on that job, right through the pouring rain.

Some of our roads sure looked a lot nicer last week following the first sweeping of the season.

Mary Snoddon is improving following surgery.

Enjoyed an Avon meeting in the Haliburton Legion last week.

Well Kinmount was some busy spot last Saturday, what with summer folks coming and going. Hamilton's Texaco Auction sale and Betty Taylor's wedding. All the best to you both, Betty, in all you do and wherever you go.

All card holding members are cordially invited to attend the Kinmount Legion, Branch 441, on Saturday, June 4 for the Bacon and Roach trophies, dart tournament. Registration 11 a.m. to 12 noon.

Want to try something I call "glucky" but good? They're called: "Brigadieros": 1-14 1/2 ounce can sweetened condensed milk (1 1/2 cups) 1/4 cup unsweetened cocoa powder, 1 tbsp. butter or margarine, 6 to 8 tbsp. chocolate flavoured sprinkles, small foil or paper decorator cups. In a 2-quart saucepan combine condensed milk, cocoa powder and butter. Cook and stir constantly over medium-low heat 7 to 8 minutes or til candy forms a ball around the spoon and pulls away from the sides of the pan. Cool to room temperature. With buttered hands, shape cocoa mixture into 1 inch balls; gently roll each in chocolate sprinkles. Place in individual decorator cups. Cover and chill before serving. Refrigerate remaining candies. Makes 25.

Results of the St. Patrick's euchar party May 10. Ladies high: Gladys Anderson, ladies low: Bertha Stata, men's high: Sam Duffy, men's low: M. Pearson, lone hands: Vi Cooke and there were 8 tables of players.

Visitors at the home of Clara and Ambrose Watson on Mother's Day were Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Watson and family of Bowmanville, Mrs. Jean Scarlett and family, Bonnie, Rhonda, Randy and children, Lisa and Daryl, Charlene Fountain and son Steven, B. Hale and Scott Tarsey, all from Oshawa, Flo Schlosser and Norman and Bertha Bamford. You were some busy lady on mom's day Clara!

Stay well and happy and be here next time. Give me a call at 488-2353.

"What we usually pray to God is not His will be done, but that he approve ours."

Isn't it delightful to hear the frogs singing in the evening, see the beautiful daffodils in bloom, and the many colored hyacinths wafting their fragrance in the air. It makes one feel like spring is here even though the temperatures are on the low side.

Some May birthdays are being celebrated. Alex Gervais and I had natal days on May 7, a happy tenth birthday to Greg Kernohan on May 13 and many more to Frank Large who will be celebrating on May 15.

John and Bonnie Leslie (Morris) have been residing in North Bay, where John has just graduated from the helicopter pilot course (with the top student award) at Canadore College. John will now be working with Midwest Helicopter Company, out of Winnipeg.

One day last week the Lapidary Group of the Dorset Senior Citizens spent a day at the Frost Centre, having a refresher course on the identification, processing and use of the finished product, after you have selected your pieces of rock and put them through the various stages of polishing, until they are a beautiful gem-like object.

Geologist Rick Keevil, who is in charge of the Geology department at the centre, is a very interesting, patient and courteous young man and made the day a very pleasant experience for the group, and they would like to thank him for his time and effort. The numerous uses for rocks is quite varied if you have the proper equipment. One saw they have at the centre can slice rock very thin and it can be used the same as stained glass. David McKey, a very proficient stained glass artist in Dorset, fashioned a beautiful lampshade for the Lapidary room at the centre, from Calcic Marble, which is found in the Madoc area. It had been sliced to a 4 mm thickness and was in beautiful shades of dark green, orangy-red and white. Really, a work of art. We hope that Rick realizes what a tremendous help he has been to the Lapidary Group and how much they appreciate it.

The Dorset Guide L.A. held a meeting last week at the United Church, and had a busy time cutting and sewing. The ladies are making old-fashioned sun bonnets that they will be selling during Dorset Pioneer week. Sounds interesting.

The foot clinic falls on Wednesday, May 18 so call for appointments, 766-2237.

The teachers and mothers who worked hard to put on the School Fun Fair are to be congratulated for their efforts. They would like to thank the public for supporting the event. I wish to thank them for the wall decoration which I was lucky enough to win as door prize.

Well, we know where some of our tax money goes. The $1800 would buy a lot of taxpayers' dinners, unless they were eating caviar or pheasant under glass. And $1,000 for booze? If some just had a glass of wine and probably some nothing at all, there must have been some happy people there. We don't begrudge our public servants a dinner now and then, but there should be some restrictions.

HCHSS holds meeting at PineStone

A very successful workshop was presented by the above committee at the PineStone Inn Friday, May 6. The theme of the workshop was "A Healthy Lifestyle."

One hundred and thirteen attended, including four visitors from Scarborough Home Support Services with Sharon Arendt their coordinator. The program commenced with a very good talk by Leslie Orpana, director of community nutrition services of the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit. Leslie discussed the effects of drug and alcohol misuse by seniors on their nutritional status.

The next speaker was Dr. Joy Ballard of Wilberforce who spoke on attitudes. Dr. Ballard delighted the audience with her poems, humoand down to earth advice. Margaret Horsley thanked Leslie for her talk and Dorothy Robertson thanked Dr. Ballard.

Before lunch Marilyn Stouffer led in a sing-song accompanied by Marie Wallace on the piano. It was a real musical treat.

After lunch the crowd enjoyed a talk by Dr. Greg Blaney of Ottawa who spoke on "Holistic Medicine." He gave a very interesting talk on "How to manage stress creatively, how to improve fitness, and how to accept change without distress."

Following the doctor's talk, there was a brief question period. He was thanked by Doris McCann.

Dick McCann acted as master of ceremonies.

Gooderham News

by Mary Hadley

We wish to extend a hearty welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pinkney who have taken up residence in the Pickens' cottage on Pine Lake. We trust they will enjoy living in our friendly community.

The Gun Club re-opened for the summer season on May 1. The members meet every second Sunday at 10 a.m. A hunter safety course will be given in the club house. Visitors or prospective members are invited. For further information contact Dan Dewey.

The May meeting of the U.C.W. was held at the home of Margaret Pickens last Monday. Grace Billings conducted the devotional period. Vaneta Pickens gave an excellent inspirational topic on the "Master Plan for a Christian Life", emphasizing that success in any endeavour requires careful planning. The foundation is laid in childhood and the framework is built with Christian influences which she enumerated. Following a business period, the hostess served a delightful lunch.

A baby shower honoring Pauline Parnell was held at the home of Elva Bates last Thursday evening. Pauline received many attractive and useful gifts for which she expressed sincere appreciation. The gracious hostess, Margaret Bates, served a tasty lunch, including a beautifully decorated cake.

Since Wayne is employed in Saskatchewan, Pauline will accompany him there in the near future.

A welcome back to Jean Noseworthy. She will be operating the snack bar in the village which has reopened for the summer season.

We are sorry to hear that Joan Trotter is in the Peterborough Civic Hospital, having undergone surgery there. We sincerely hope she may have a very quick recovery and soon enjoy good health again.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Stansbury travelled to Oakville, May 7 when Donald's parents, Fred, aged 92 and Stella, 91, celebrated their 75th wedding anniversary. This couple lived in Gooderham until recently. We congratulate them on this wonderful achievement.

Gooderham's ever famous "Class 'n' Sass" spring fashion show is truly becoming famous. A good attendance was on hand last Friday evening for this event. Julie Hunter, with her helpers, made the centre very attractive with colored lighting, trees in flower and potted plants.

The sponsors were Julie Hartin of the Village Shoppe in Haliburton and Mr. and Mrs. Shapiera of Jean's and More in the Minden Country Mall.

Among the lines from the Village Shoppe were Tanjay, Koret, White Stag and Regency. One fashioned modelled was a black knit suit by Koret with a Chanel jacket, which is very good for a short person. Black and white are very strong this season. Regency is the queen of the crop in sportswear and the number one velour maker. Red and white are good colors for the summer. The jumpsuit is as popular as ever.

Little Amanda Dovell was a sweet model with her pinafore outfit, while her older sister, Michelle, did a good job too, with her pretty dress. Princess Diana's influence in fashions is still strong.

The Minden models showed sportswear - blouses from Junior Queen of Hearts, jogging suits by Mad Jacks and sporty short sets by Adidas. One cute short set by Mad Jacks looked cool with mesh shoulders and bat wing sleeves.

A short and top separate for a game for tennis by Sasha could be switched with a pink mini dress when the game was over. Fitness is in this summer. A bathing suit and white cover-up, both by Grenier will look good at the beach.

An elegant outfit, a Senegalese evening gown or caftan was modelled by Karen Scott Mankinen, who presently is doing free lance modelling for Lipton's Ladies' Wear and Creeds in Toronto. Karen also did all the make-up for the models. Besides Karen, other models were from Kinmount, Minden and Gooderham. They did an excellent job.

Jane Franklin, deputy-revee of Glamorgan Township, spoke on behalf of the Recreation committee of which she is a member. She gave a run-down of the events to take place in the Community Centre this summer. She also drew numbers for winners of the five potted plants.

Refreshments - delicious goodies, tea and coffee - were served.

Thanks were given to Jean Frazer for her well-designed posters, the sponsors and models and the Recreation committee and assistants for another successful fashion show.

Glamorgan Senior Citizens will hold their "pot luck" meeting May 25 at 6 p.m. in the Community Centre. Norman Graham and three others from the Kawartha Old Time Fiddlers' Association will be present to entertain with musical numbers. Come and enjoy meeting with us!

Once again the South Algonquin Kinsmen's Club are holding their Auction and Dance, better known in the area as "Kintoria Day", on May 21, Victoria Day weekend.

Any donations may be left with Ron Barr, Jim Greenwood, or Bob McCausland or any of the above may be contacted for pickup.

The auction will begin at approximately 1 p.m. at the arena in Wilberforce. The dance will start at 9 p.m. and will also be at the Wilberforce Arena. Music will be supplied by the "Load Stones". The Kinsmen would appreciate your support. They 'serve your community's greatest needs'.

Carnarvon News

by Ann McKay

Mother Nature seems to be playing games with us. It was quite a shock to get up on Mother's Day to find it snowing. It was also very windy and cold.

It is very nice to have our neighbors back, the Ross Harrisons, who have spent the winter at their home in Fort Myers, Florida, their son Tom was home for the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gregory of Ottawa are visiting with his parents, the Jack Gregorlys.

Nice to see the lights on again across the lake at the Maurice Windsor home. They are back from their home in Tampa. Their son Garth and Helen flew down to spend a few days with them then drove home. Garth and Helen have returned to their home in Horne-payne.

The ladies of the community gathered at the Christian Education Building on Friday evening in spite of the terrible downpour to honor Barbara Barnhart with a bridal shower. Barbara, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Barnhart, received many lovely and useful gifts for the home she has purchased in Haliburton. Congratulations and best wishes to Barbara and fiancé James Winn. They are to be married in July.

Home for Mother's Day celebrations were the families of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Skelding. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Barnhart, Mr. and Mrs. Bill O'Reilly and I am sure there were others I have not heard from. Hope mothers had a good day.

The sympathy of the community is extended to the Ron Fennell family. Ron's brother passed away in Brockville.

Sorry to be late with the above news folks, but I could not meet the deadline on Sunday.

Mrs. Muriel Hewitt is back at the cottage for the summer.

We were sorry to learn of the passing of Ernie Davies and extend our sympathies to his family.

Spending a few days with the Stan Archers is Mildred's sister Mrs. Thelma Scott and Mr. and Mrs. Royce Wilson all of Searchmont. On Sunday they were joined by Mrs. Joyce Austin and son and Mr. Rod Ward and son. Olive Ward is still hospitalized in Lindsay's Ross Memorial; Mrs. Maisie Davies of Toronto and Mr. and Mrs. Max McKay were also included in the family get-together for a delicious turkey dinner.

Norland Natter

by Kelly Graham

Well, we're finally into the long-awaited Stanley Cup Finals. All I can say at this point is go Edmonton go! (It looks like they went -- Editor).

If you haven't noticed already there is a new take-out place in Norland. Anne and Derek Spencer of Norland are the owners of "Country Girl" which sells donuts and subs. The shop is located on Highway 35 just north of Norland. Although I have yet to sample the subs, the donuts (cake and yeast) are excellent. They are open seven days a week after May 20.

Also, the bake shop at Norland Discount Gas will be opening once again on the May 24th weekend.

Congratulations to Russell Graham on being selected to participate in the Ontario Junior Rangers Program. Russell will be stationed at Camp Brigg on Lake Temagami. For those of you who are not acquainted with the program, I'd like to tell you a bit about it. It is open to youths who are 17 (but not 18) by August 31. This program offers eight weeks of outdoor learning, recreation, and work. The boys and girls are given lectures on conservation, forestry and fishing. They keep open ski trails, prune trees, etc. They are paid a nominal daily fee, but the main bonus is in the fact that a report on their attitudes and work habits is sent to their local Lands and Forest office and is filed there where it will be considered if any of them decide to make the Ministry their career. Since Russ hopes to have a career in forestry, we wish him the best of luck this summer.

The Norland Branch of The Canadian Society of Creative Leathercraft are holding a tea and bake sale on May 21 at the Norland Community hall - from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. There will be a penny table, leather goods for sale, along with a couple of raffles. Tea tickets - adults $1, children

.75, preschoolers free. Plan to attend.

Last week when I told you about the CKLY safety messages I was not sure of the speakers from the grade 6 class. I have since learned that Trisha Potter and Stephanie Klett will be representing the sixth grade.

Last week the students of Norland Public School participated in Pitch-In Week. Our class scouted the community picking up garbage. The clean-up was so successful a township truck had to be sent to haul away the garbage.

The number one song on 1050 CHUM for the week starting May 6 was "She Blinded Me with Science" by Thomas Dolby.

Don't forget the Kawartha Swim. Bake Sale on May 21 in front of Shield's Hardware in Coboconk at 10 a.m.

The winner of the hockey pool for Saturday, May 7 was Janice MacGee. Congratulations Janice!

The winner of Shirley Harrison's latest Wintario ticket was Mr. Johnansson.

The euchre scores for Thursday, May 12 were as follows: ladies high, Mary Ann Chynoweth; men's high, Ziggy; lone hands: Gail Chynoweth.

I hear we have two pairs of skunkers this week. Tom Bowins and Suzy Lightfoot and Pat Shorter and Tony Kenneth.

Well that's all for this week. If you would like to reach me about a news item, just call 454-3707.

Next Saturday, May 21 is "Deb's Day" at Souter's Variety. Come and greet Deb, the new owner -- an old staff employee -- and enjoy free coffee and cookies. No purchase is necessary to get in on draws for adult prizes of a wine rack first and a book of Wintario tickets second. First prize in the children's draw is case of 144 freezers and second prize of case of Kisko's.

Winners of the seniors euchre games on Tuesday evening were as follows -- ladies first, Mildred Faulkner, 77; ladies second, Mrs. Julie Ramsey, 76; most lone hands, Mildred Faulkner, three, and consolation, May Basinger, 37.

Gent's first, Elsie Barker, 81; gent's second, Bill Saunders, 78; most lone hands, Donald Alguire, six, and consolation, Eva MacDonald, 41.

Bridge, first, Peggy Saunders, 5490; second, Dorothy Grant, 5050; consolation, Grace Crapper, 1040.

Tuesday of next week is the seniors pot luck dinner and election of officers.

Sorry to hear that former neighbor Ruth Hall, now of Lindsay spent a short time in St. Joseph's hospital in Peterborough. She is now out again.

Once again, our local merchants offer a good variety of plants for your garden.

Drop in at the Feed Mill, Jones Grocery or the I.G.A.

and they could very well have those special plants you are looking for.

Mrs. A. Fisher and Mr. W. Marles of Lindsay visited their mother, Mrs. A. Marles on the weekend.

The New Horizons enjoyed a delightful bus trip to Ottawa and points of interest there and enjoyed good weather. They left on Thursday and returned home on Friday evening.

How great to have beautiful weather the past week after such cold, rainy weather. A delight to work out of doors, and cultivate the flower beds!

Once again the Victoria County Spring Festival of the Arts is in progress. So many things to see - and a real treat for crafters!

Lutterworth council meeting held

A regular meeting of Lutterworth township was held last month with all members in attendance.

After the minutes from the last two meetings were approved, deputy-revee Glynn Lewis reported to council that the committee comprised of he and Coun. Allan E. Stott would be providing the council with the draft form of a reply from this municipality to the Dec. 5, 1982 correspondence received from the council of the Town of Lutterworth, in Leicestershire, England.

In the matter of the Moore Lake/Harris Properties, involving lots designated on plans 29200, 30797, part two and plan 32093 and temporarily zoned RU1 under township restricted area by-law 13-72, council noted the Ontario Municipal Board's February 28, 1983 advice, by letter, that the temporary zoning approval under the OMB's order made on April 23, 1982 expires on April 30, 1983.

Council authorized and instructed the clerk to request, in writing, from the OMB, a further extension of the board's temporary zoning approval beyond the expiry date of April 30, next, in order to allow the new Town-

Minister's reply

drinking water, but with its occurrence in other compartments of the environment as well. Therefore, Ministry of the Environment monitoring has also been directed to possible atmospheric inputs, as well as the dietary inputs through fish. We have sampled for dioxins in fish since 1980, and have reported our findings to the public as mentioned.

With regard to the reported occurrences of dioxins in the environment, it is a matter of record that a great deal of information on trace concentrations of contaminants such as dioxins, has been produced and released to the public by the Ministry of the Environment. In all cases where trace concentrations of dioxins, have been detected, the Ministry of the Environment has been very responsive in investigating the nature of the dioxins found, the extent of its occurrence and their health significance.

Unfortunately, the common reaction to reports of occurrences is that the hazardous chemical did not exist prior to its initial detection, and that some 'new' risk to humans is now imposed. Often, these types of conclusions are not supported scientifically. Detection does not imply risk per se and in the case of dioxins, research is ongoing to determine actual public health risks associated with the various isomers. My ministry continues to maintain an immediate awareness of the results of advanced research. There is no evidence to substantiate Mr. Eakins' claim that a plague, or any public health emergency is imminent.

In terms of our analytical capabilities, my ministry, recognizing the potential importance of the dioxin group of compounds, established a dioxin laboratory in 1980. With recent equipment additions, this lab is now capable of measuring extremely low concentrations of these substances and processes a significant number of samples of various media (e.g. water, fish, air). The suitability of our sophisticated analytical equipment used for dioxin testing and the competence and dedication of the scientists involved in the state-of-the-art technology cannot be disputed. I must say that this observation applies as well to the excellence of other ministry labs which deal with the 'new generation' of hazardous trace substances.

My ministry has and will continue to establish cost-effective research programs to ensure the safety of our water supplies. "New types of treatment systems" may not be required at all. Preliminary work has been completed and we are now valuating a research proposal on the methods of optimizing conventional treatment methods for the removal of trace contaminants. The research will assess the effectiveness of existing methods of treatment, and investigate add-on capabilities (carbon contractors) and the use of granular, activated carbon filtration. Research will take place at an existing water treatment plant, in order to avoid capital and time-loss costs of building a "demonstration plant". As well, research has recently been completed by a ministry contractor on the effectiveness, feasibility and costing of ozonation for drinking water disinfection in Ontario. The report will be released in the near future.

With respect to waste management, later in the year, I will be announcing this ministry's extensive "Blueprint for Waste Management", and legislation is being drafted which will enhance the existing waybill system to ensure that generators of wastes register their activity in detail.

A consultant to the ministry has carried out comprehensive hydrogeologic evaluations of two of the waste sites in Niagara County, New York. The ministry is pressing the United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) for appropriate monitoring and remedial action. As well, our current efforts are being directed towards finding a consultative approach with the EPA and several of the industries in the area that will provide us with further detailed information and the opportunity to impact on the decision-making process. We indicated to Pollution Probe last year that we would give them technical and scientific support in connection with their planned intervention in the S-Area court proceedings. All information we have at present has been made available to them. We have not been asked for financial support. Probe is receiving some funding from Environment Canada to assist in engineering studies.

In terms of developing a safe drinking water act, existing legislation (The Ontario Water Resources Act, The Environmental Protection Act, The Public Health Act) is considered effective in providing the authority for establishing and enforcing objectives and controls over hazardous contaminants in the environment. The Ontario Drinking Water Objectives is the primary document governing the management of drinking water in Ontario. A revised edition will be released shortly, and will be updated regularly. The recently established Hazardous Contaminants and Standards Branch is currently in the process of establishing objectives committees to assemble the current criteria for health and environmental effects and to formulate tentative objectives. Subsequent steps in the development of the objectives will include a forum for public input. The first hazardous contaminant group to be dealt with in the standards setting process are the dioxin compounds.

I hope these comments have made your readers aware of the action my ministry has taken and will continue to take on the issue of dioxins in the environment.

Yours very truly,
Kelth C. Norton

Being a by-law for the purpose of establishing the remuneration paid to the members of the council of the municipality for the year 1983 and setting the attendance requirements to receive such remuneration (Enacted in accordance with Resolution 2, passed by the council on Feb. 17, 1983 - pursuant to the provisions of the Inflation Restraint Program of the provincial government.

In the matter of the North/Sammut Municipal Landfill Site, located in part of lot 17, in concession 13, on the Deep Bay Road council took note that the 10-year lease agreement covering the land that the township dump occupies, expires on Nov. 1. Council instructed the clerk to write to Joseph Sammut, the property owner, and suggest renewal of hte lease agreement for a further 10-year term at the present annual rate of $300, payable yearly on November 1. Copies of the new lease agreement form are to be forwarded to the property-owner for his signature.

• Moved by Bill Valentine, seconded by G. Lewis that council hereby authorizes and instructs the reeve and the clerk to execute, on behalf of the township corporation, under the corporate seal, the contract dated March 17 pertaining to the Canada-Ontario Employment Development Program, between the Corporation of the Township of Lutterworth, the Canada Employment and

Immigration Commission and the Government of the Province of Ontario; re: the Lutterworth Beautification Project 205-1 for the province, and project 2600JK? for the Canada Employment and Immigration Commission. Council notes hereby that the Municipality will receive grant funding in the total amount of $15,000 for this project, involving the employment of four project workers for a term of five months. Carried.

Council authorized and instructed the clerk and municipal law enforcement officer to place an appropriate advertisement in the local papers calling for applications from candidates that are eligible under the program.

TO ONTARIO'S JUNIOR CITIZENS OF THE YEAR

You have set a fine example for the youth of Ontario.

Ontario's Junior Citizens of the Year for 1982 are pictured with Lieutenant Governor John B. Aird, following presentations at the 33rd annual convention of Ontario Community Newspapers Association in Toronto. In the front row from left to right are Frank Meyer, Mississauga; Hack Waldon, Thunder Bay; Leah Chorniak, Brantford; Mr. Aird; Steven Barkley, Winchester; Annie Janzen, Stratford; and Chantal Michaud, Mattawa. Second row: Lisa Andreassi, Searford; Jose Medeiros, Toronto; Faith Swann, Mississauga; Patrick Carter, Newmarket; Brenda Vines, Elmira and Tim Christy, Norwich. They were honored for outstanding community work, lifesaving heroism and working to overcome physical limitations.

Nominations for 1983 Junior Citizen awards are now being accepted.

One boy they had, now two boys they've got;
that I'm just as special a question it's not.
The "they" are my parents,
Cathy and Paul,
My name is Dane but that's not all.

Charlton Dane Douglas
DAWSON will be my full title;
to say it all at once is a mini recital.
I was born on Tuesday the tenth day of May
I weighed 9-13, a big baby they say!

The city of Peterborough is down as my birthplace
Dr. Froats on my memory is etched as my first face.
Dr. Pierce helped me get here all safe and sound,
So that once I'm home all my friends can come 'round.

I hope to meet you all some time soon.
My mom feels great. She'll be out and around at the latest by June.
A special hello to my big brother Chad
And on behalf of my Mom
I'd like to say "thanks again" to my Dad.

ville is the nearest centre. Bracebridge, is also surprisingly closer than Minden and Haliburton.

So here's a major centre, in our county, that we hear and see little about. There are businesses in Dorset that belong to our county Chamber of Commerce, and Sherborne et al representatives make what they admit is "a long drive" down to attend county meetings at Minden.

The isolation of Dorset has worked to its advantage. It has established itself as a real tourist attraction -- with its bridge, its general store, and its fine old hotel/restaurant, among other sites.

Let's try and give Dorset more attention. After all, we all live in this county.

Finance committee

The Dysart Finance Committee, met in the council chambers Monday, May 9 commencing at 9:00.

pointed out McGilvary. Skiers will also enjoy "on-trail" licenced dining facilities. The centre will provide sporting goods for golfers and skiers.

The three chalets, executive-styled, will feature two bedrooms, sunken living rooms, full kitchens and Jacuzzis, he said.

"They will be like a hotel room," said McGilvary, but will provide guests with more privacy and an outdoor setting, overlooking the golf course.

Construction on the project is being carried out "by a mixture of" John Beachli Construction and Valhalla Homes, he said.

AHM votes to build berm at Scotch Line

In other dump news, council approved the construction of an earth berm at the Scotch Line Landfill Site. The mound of earth would shield the view of the dump from passing motorists. As well, council learned that Ministry of Environment grants exists for such work.

Insurance

After hearing lengthy presentations from two separate insurance firms, council voted to "accept the quotation of O.M.E. Insurance Brokers Ltd to provide our insurance needs for 1983/84 at a cost of $10,355...and that the premium be paid forthwith subject to Association of Municipalities of Ontario endorsement."

Chris Sinardo of O.M.E. attended the Thursday meeting, and Frank Cowan had attended a meeting two weeks before.
